HOPS OFF TO FLY ATLANTIC ALONE IN 26-FOOT PLANE

H. C. MacDonald Sets Out From Harbor Grace, N. F., for England in Moth, with Only 80 Hours' Experience.

By the Associated Press. ST. JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 17.—Commander H. C. MacDonald, English aviator, took off from Harbor Grace, today in a Moth type airplane in an attempt to fly across the Atlantic to England.

MacDonald, who is 28 years old, came to Newfoundland about three weeks ago and began assembling his plane in preparation for the attempt. Although he said he had had only 80 hours of flying experience he was confident that he could make the flight alone in the small plane.

Since his arrival here MacDonald has been awaiting favorable weather conditions. He had declared that he would not take off until he had a "hunch" that everything was right.

He said the flight was being financed privately. He was assisted in preparing for the flight by A. P. Williams, a mechanic, who accompanied him from England.

The plane is a midget compared with Col. Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis." Known as an "aerial sports car," the Gypsy Moth had been secretly prepared at the Stag Line Aerodrome in London for many weeks.

Extra fuel tanks were fitted to the plane, giving it a range of about 25 hours, sufficient for 3600 miles of cruising.

Reports received here from Harbor Grace indicated that it was none too favorable when the aviator determined to wait no longer. His plane left the ground at the Harbor Grace airport at 11:54 o'clock Eastern standard time (10:51 St. Louis time). It carried 100 gallons of fuel, which MacDonald was confident would be more than enough to carry him to England.

He expressed confidence that his experience as a navigator, gained during his naval career, would make it possible for him to pick his way over the Atlantic to his destination without difficulty.

The engine has 80 to 100 horsepower as against Lindbergh's 250. It is a four-cylinder air-cooled motor. Tests have shown that it can run without trouble for periods of 24 hours or more.

The Gypsy Moth is the plane in which W. L. Hope won the last King's Cup for a race around England and is the craft taken by Capt. G. De Havilland on an altitude record-breaking flight for two-seater light airplanes.

The plane is too small for wireless in addition to its other load, and floats would be useless to keep so tiny a machine afloat on the Atlantic rollers.

MacDonald, although comparatively a novice at flying, is a skilled navigator. However, after only eight hours of solo flying he took a plane on a long successful flight through Europe.

Following Wind and No Storms Forecast for Ocean Flyer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Commander MacDonald will have "peculiarly favorable weather" on his flight from Newfoundland to England, Dr. James H. Kimball of the Weather Bureau said today. From reports received here there are no storm areas over the Atlantic and the flyer will have the advantage of a following wind, which should attain a velocity of 20 miles an hour. The plane probably will encounter cloudy weather here and there, with some rain in small areas.

GOV. SMITH CALLS G. O. P. 'ECONOMY' CLAIMS A MYTH

Before Huge Crowd in Sedalia, He Challenges Hoover to Prove Cut in Expenses of Government

CHARGES "TRICK IN BOOKKEEPING" Says Expenditures Have Risen $200,000,000 in Three Years—For U. S. Flood Control Payment.

THE stenographic report of Gov. Smith's speech last night at Sedalia, Mo., is on Page 4.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SEDALIA, Mo., Oct. 17.—Gov. Alfred E. Smith, in the only speech which he will deliver in Missouri during the presidential campaign, declared last night that "Republican economy" is a myth, charged Herbert Hoover with having misrepresented the facts in his speech of acceptance, and challenged him to prove his statements.

Pointing out that the annual expenditures of the Federal Government have increased about $200,000,000 during the last three years of the Coolidge administration, the Democratic nominee asserted that the fiscal policies of both the Harding and Coolidge administrations have been characterized by flagrant waste and inefficiency in some departments, and by disgraceful parsimony in others.

Gov. Smith came out flatly in favor of having the Federal Government bear the full cost of Mississippi River flood control, and expressed impatience with the "trifling" manner in which the administration had attacked the problem. He declared that the Government, without further delay, should embark upon a comprehensive program of control under which the destructive flood waters would be turned into a source of power.

Friendly Crowd of 15,000. A demonstrative audience of more than 15,000 persons filled the livestock pavilion at the State Fairgrounds, while other thousands were turned away.

The crowd was unqualifiedly friendly. It gave close attention to his recital of figures, and clamorous cheers for his vigorous comments upon them. Smith put a surprising amount of humor into his prosaic subject. When he told the crowd how Gen. Lord, director of the budget, had occupied the attention of a conference of Governors for a considerable time by "describing how the Coolidge administration was saving money on paper clips, pencil stubs and paper towels, they laughed and cheered.

When he recited further how the General had boasted of salvaging a shipment of spoiled loused seal shoulders, by selling them for crab bait and thus realizing $20 for the Federal Government, which otherwise would have been lost, they roared.

President of Concern Admits Two Firms Have Same Officers, but Declines to Give Facts.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—After two witnesses from the Electric Bond & Share Co. had refused today to answer questions put to them in the Federal Trade Commission's power investigation, Commissioner McCulloch served notice that the Commission would have recourse to law to compel representatives of the company to give the information desired.

McCulloch's decision followed instructions given by John F. MacLane, counsel for the Electric Bond & Share Co., to Ralph E. Feagin, a vice president, and A. E. Smith, comptroller, that they were not required to answer questions or produce documents bearing on the financial records of their organization. In accordance with this, both Feagin and Smith had refused answers to questions by Robert E. Healy, Commission counsel, regarding any payments made by their company to influence public opinion against municipal ownership.

Says Body Has Authority. Contrary to MacLane's position, Commissioner McCulloch contended that the information sought "comes squarely within the Senate resolution ordering this investigation and also the powers conferred on the Commission by the act which created it." He said if such refusal was available to the commission, then the Walsh resolution and the Federal Trade Commission's statute, were "pieces of waste paper and nothing more."

Earlier MacLane had said the Electric Bond & Share Co. co-operated fully with the present investigation in the furnishing of records, as were material McCulloch, however, expressed the opinion that the company was willing to co-operate with the investigation "only to the extent that served its own end."

The investigation was recessed until next Tuesday morning at 10 a. m., with the subpoenas for Feagin and Smith remaining in force. Furthermore, Smith was directed specifically by Commissioner McCulloch to produce all disbursement vouchers showing payments made by the company to influence public opinion or elections, as covered in the Walsh resolution.

When Commissioner McCulloch directed that examination of Smith proceed, Robert E. Healy, commission counsel, ascertained from the witness that he was comptroller and assistant secretary both in the Electric Bond & Share Co. and the Electric Bond & Share Securities Corporation, and that the latter organization owned all of the common stock of the former.

After it had been sold to him, Raskob proposed the volume be autographed by members of the National Executive Committee for presentation to Mrs. Smith.

Other copies of the speech were sold for several thousand dollars. Proceeds will go to the national campaign fund.

SCOTT FIELD AIRSHIP RS-1 WEATHERS LINE SQUALL

Craft, With 14 Aboard, Lands Safely After Three Wild Hours in Lower Mississippi Valley.

BATTERED, TWISTED AND TORN BY WIND

Radio Calls, Sent by Man With Parachute Strapped to Back, Fail to Get Through to Station.

Its envelope ripped, its nose crushed and with its prow duralumin braces twisted into corkscrew shapes, the Army dirigible RS-1, the largest semirigid airship in the world, limped groundward at Scott Field last night, about 10:40 o'clock, after a battle with line squalls on the lower Mississippi River.

Returning from a 1000-mile flight to San Antonio, Tex., where it made exhibition flights in connection with the American Legion convention, the RS-1 ran full into a "nest" of line squalls, about 9 o'clock yesterday morning, which it battled for more than three hours above the Mississippi near Memphis, Tenn. Capt. W. E. Kepner, winner of this year's Gordon Bennett international balloon cup, was in charge of the ship with four commissioned officers and nine enlisted men.

"It was the most violent weather I have ever seen from the air," Capt. Kepner said to a Post-Dispatch reporter upon arrival at Scott Field. "It seems almost miraculous that our ship could have come through. At times, the gas bag appeared to be crushed absolutely flat; at other times it was puffed out. We were kicked around by winds as if the ship were a football.

Airship Bent Like Horseshoe. "The first heavy squall that hit us ripped the envelope near the nose, and crushed the nose braces. Lieut. Fogelson was up in the nose at the time. It looked very serious for him. He managed to drop down. With a crushed nose, our ship became more difficult to steer. I thought it was all up several times. I suppose the loss of one motor might have made things more serious than they were. But all four Liberty motors kept working. It was our power that finally pulled us out of the squalls after three hours' fighting.

"Several times our ship was bent like a horseshoe.

Tuns Into Storms. The RS-1 left Brooks Field, at San Antonio, about 11 a. m. Monday. The weather was clear and sunny, with a few white clouds. The weather stayed clear until 6 p. m. A few gray clouds began to gather in the southeast. The big nonrigid ship, measuring 282 feet from stem to stern, its power developed from four Liberty motors of 425 horsepower each, and carrying two propellers, cruised over Dallas about 6:30 p. m. A half hour later the ship was overtaken by a mild rainstorm.

TEXT OF SMITH'S SEDALIA ADDRESS DENOUNCING G. O. P. ECONOMY CLAIMS

DECLARES IN FAVOR OF U. S. PAYING THE WHOLE COST OF MISSISSIPPI FLOOD CONTROL

Nominee Challenges Hoover to Reply to Charge of Misrepresentation in Comparing War-Time and Peace Expenditures.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SEDALIA, Mo., Oct. 17.

FOLLOWING is the stenographic report of the speech of Gov. Smith here last night:

Senator, Fellow Democrats of Missouri: Last night around 9 o'clock I arrived in Sedalia—the first time in my life that I have been in this part of the United States. Early this morning I was treated to a view of your city, paraded along your streets, and I was continually wondering what there was about the city that made it so attractive to me; what there was about it that gave rise to such a warm and such a hearty welcome. I found it all out tonight in the Kansas City Journal-Post, which said:

"Gov. Smith of New York should enjoy his stay at Sedalia, not merely because the city was founded by a Smith, and named after his daughter, but because he will meet thousands of typical Missouri Democrats."

The Smiths have done a pretty good job at nearly everything they have ever started, and I am very satisfied with the establishment of the city of Sedalia by my namesake.

No political party is entitled to the confidence of the people of this country that predicated its campaign upon misrepresentation, and the Republican party is conducting that type of campaign throughout the length and breadth of the United States.

Republican Economy Claims. A little over three weeks ago I started out to dissipate—and I believe I have been very successful up to date—the fallacies put forth by the Republican party as a reason for its continuance in control of our governmental machinery.

Tonight I propose to expose in the State of Missouri one of the grossest fallacies offered by the Republican party.

Lacking an issue and unable to point to any constructive achievement in the past, the Republican party, through its orators, through its press bureau, through its national committee, through its journals that pay allegiance to it, through publications of all kinds, have attempted to fasten in the minds of the people of this country the idea that, by wonderful business methods, by economy, by careful and prudent spending of the public money, they have reduced the cost of conducting the Government of the United States.

In order to develop this I propose tonight to paint three pictures. First, the picture that the Republican party would like to have you see, full of statistics that the Republican party would have you believe—a picture of the reduction of the cost of Government due to good business methods, and due to the introduction of methods of economy.

War-Time Comparisons.

That picture started as far back as 1924, and when it started the public mind was ready for it to a certain degree, and the statement of the reduction in the cost of operating the Government was technically, although not actually true. The trouble as far back as 1924 was that the comparisons taken from the Republican platform and from the Republican textbook were taken as the cost of the Government during the war and the cost of the Government in times of peace.

In 1921, when the Republican party came into control of the Government, the nation was still paying, and paying very dearly, for the cost of the war. It took years to return the 2,000,000 or more men that were abroad to their homes. It took years to disband the army in the cantonments in the United States waiting for service. It took years to disband all of the expensive bureaus and agencies of the Government that were set up at enormous cost for the purpose of advancing the war.

The Myth of Economy. Naturally, in 1921, 1922 and 1923 there was a gradual drop as far as the figures were concerned in the cost of the operation of this Government. The 1924 campaign book and platform of the Republican party in glowing terms proclaimed to the people of the United States the great saving effected by Republican economy, and it was at that time backed up by the figures, not thoroughly understood by the American people that the myth of Republican economy had its birth. The real facts were concealed; the real truth was withheld. The real reason for the drop in the cost of Government was not frankly and honestly made known to the American people. Why, the children in the high schools of our country know that there is a great difference between the cost of the operations of the Government in time of war and that in time of peace.

This false picture started with the platform of 1924, and from that time up to and including last Saturday night, the Republican party has done everything it possibly could to keep building up that picture. False statements, misrepresentation, concealment of the truth, meant nothing as long a few examples in order to bolster up the false picture. Let us listen to a few of them and see what they must have amused the people of this country. I know they amused me, and I am not giving them to you tonight for any other reason.

Standing before the conference of Governors, he had a mass of memoranda in his left hand and with the detailed figures down to cents—he never spoke in round figures; everything he said was forty-five million, two hundred and sixty-three thousand, fourteen dollars and forty-two cents—he told the story of the young man in charge of the navy storehouse in Washington who had effected a great saving in the administration of the Government by getting through the waste paper basket every night and picking out the pins and the paper clips and the short stubs of pencils and saving them. Then he spoke about the Consul-General Curacao, in the West Indies. He saved $14 in one year by turning off the electric lights early at night. And he made quite a speech about the saving that was effected for the Government by stopping the stamping of mail bags with a blue stripe, making the mail bags entirely white. We saved $2000 in one year in this way. But he failed to make mention of the fact that last December in the city of Chicago they were unable to deliver all the Christmas mail because of a lack of mail bags.

Soused Seal Shoulders. Just think of taking up the time of the Government printing office circulating literature of this kind throughout the country in an effort to bolster up this false picture of reduction of the cost of Government.

The next instance is amusing. Some person—it is not explained in the report of the director who shipped them or to whom they were shipped—but he said there was shipped from Alaska seven barrels of spoiled soused seal shoulders. Now, that is not so easy to say. And as a great move toward the reduction in the cost of operating the Government the soused seal shoulders under ordinary circumstances, the director said, would have been discarded, were turned into crab-bait, and sold for $20.

Every publication, year and year out, printed at great expense to the Government, contains samples of this wonderful economy. In 1925 he discovered something remarkable. In his 1925 report the General said:

"The use of both sides of the paper in printed mimeographed publications and administrative orders and circulars, where there is no compelling reason why only one side of the paper should be used, has been recommended."

Every publication speaks about billions of dollars that have been saved, and there was organized in the different departments what became known as the Loyal Order of Woodpeckers.

In order to be a thirty-third degree Woodpecker, you had promise not to throw away a lead pencil until it was all used up; and you turned the light out when you left the room. The General was addressing the Loyal Order one night and here is what he said:

"All hail the Loyal Order of Woodpeckers, whose persistent tapping away at waste will make cheerful music in Government offices and workshops during the coming year!"

Of course, he tells the Woodpeckers that they are under no responsibility of making any report about their savings, and in that connection he said:

"No reports will be required, and only such record kept as the agencies themselves think necessary or desirable."

An army official in charge of an arsenal at Augusta comes in for great credit for his share of reducing expenses by these billions because he conceived the bright idea of turning off the electric lights on the roads and grounds on moonlight nights. What would happen if a cloud happened along?

Not Against Economy. Now I want it to be thoroughly understood by everybody in this audience and by everybody that is listening in on the radio, and by every citizen of this country who reads this speech, that I am not decrying and do not intend to decry these economies. I favor them, and I practice them in the government of my own State. I am as strong as a man can be for economical and efficient Government.

But what I am finding fault with, is urging this as the basis for the false claim that, because of this kind of economy, the people of the country have been, through the instrumentality of the Republican party, saved billions of dollars in the cost of the Government. That is not true.

Let us see what contribution to the painting of this picture was made by the Republican candidate, Mr. Hoover. He took his brush in hand and painted a part of the picture in his speech of acceptance, when he said:

"By rigorous economy, Federal expenses have been reduced by two billion dollars per annum."

Challenges Hoover's Statement. No more misleading statement could be made, and for a man that uses figures as Mr. Hoover does, I am surprised that he would make that kind of a statement to the American people. He knows just as well as I do, and just as well as you do that the difference between the 1921 expenditures of the Government and the 1927 expenditures of the Government are, as I set out a few moments ago, the difference between the conditions of war and under peace conditions, and it is not, and cannot be by any stretch of the human imagination, be credited to Republican economy. That statement is not so. It is not true, and I challenge the Republican candidate to make it good. And I make the statement that he will not be able to do it.

The finishing touches were put in the picture here in the last week, when the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Mellon, speaking over the radio, had the following to say:

"Such is the record of the administration as regards its financial policy. It is a constructive record, and one that speaks for itself. And, yet, Gov. Smith and other Democratic speakers seek to withhold credit from the Coolidge administration for its undisputed achievement, such as the reduction of taxes and expenditures."

The Republican Picture. Why, of course, we dispute it, Mr. Mellon. (Laughter and applause.) I dispute it and I challenge you to support it. (Applause.) Further than that, Mr. Mellon, it will be challenged by every Democratic speaker throughout the country for the rest of the campaign and they will all be right about it. (Applause.)

Now, I have touched only the high spots. I have called as witnesses only the prominent painters who had a part in the picture. The record discloses countless thousands more, but it would take all night to go through with them. Therefore we will let this picture rest. This is the picture which the Republican party is attempting to force into the minds of the American people.

Let me repeat what the picture is supposed to be. It is supposed to make you believe that by efficient, economical, prudent and careful administration of the Government's business, the Republicans have reduced the cost of government.

publican orators. You will never learn of it, because of the peculiar bookkeeping of Mr. Mellon and Mr. Mellon. But, I tell you, when all is said and done, when you are painting a false picture, what is a little thing like $2,600,000,000?

Executive Expenditures. As we proceed with the painting of the real picture let us take some figures. And I think we can commence with the chief apostle of economy himself, the man who is held up as an example to all the country of careful and prudent management of the country's business. That is President Coolidge.

In 1921 the executive department, in so far as it relates to the President and the Vice President, cost the people of this country $210,000. In 1927 it cost $686,000. But that is the year we put the new roof on the White House.

And if we are magnanimous enough—and I know that we are—to make allowance for that, let us take 1928 when there was no new roof to pay for. It cost in 1928 $628,000, an increase between 1921 and 1928 of over 100 per cent.

That certainly does considerable damage to picture No. 1. (Applause.) And that, mind you, comes right out of the office of the President himself.

District of Columbia. Let us take the District of Columbia. The District of Columbia is a city managed and operated as a municipality by the Federal Government itself. In 1921 it cost the Federal Government $21,900,000 to operate the city of Washington. In 1925 it cost $40,000,000—one hundred per cent increase. What does that do to picture No. 1? (Applause.) And mind you, while that increase is growing by leaps and bounds year after year, the same men that know all about it are sending out propaganda against the other cities of the country for not reducing the cost of their government. (Applause.)

There is one great thing that we have in this country and in all of the States that make up the great country, and that is the public record. That is a cold, hard, hearted thing, and you cannot get away from it. It stares you right in the eye, and you cannot dispute it, because it is the record. If there was this enormous reduction claimed in picture No. 1, it would have to be reflected in the figures of appropriation and expenditures, and they are a matter of public record beyond the power of anybody in or out of public office to dispute. Let us look at what the public record says. I will pick a few departments and then I will give you a summary of them all.

Departmental Increases. We will take first the Department of Agriculture. In 1924 it cost $43,000,000. In 1927 it cost $156,000,000. What does that do to the picture? Take the Department of Commerce, under Mr. Hoover, who talks about this great saving. In 1924 it cost $25,000,000. In 1927 the cost was $31,000,000.

The Department of the Treasury under Mr. Mellon, who helped to paint the first picture and put the finishing touches to it only last Friday night, cost in 1924 $117,000,000 and in 1927 $144,000,000.

Without taking up all of the departments, but in order to bring about as much destruction of that false picture as I possibly can, I will tell you about all of the departments. All of the departments of the Government together in 1927 cost $200,000,000 more than they did in 1924. (Applause.)

Now, that is a pretty good, clear, clear-cut statement. I make it without equivocation. I have nothing to subtract from it. I make it with a knowledge that the figures are right. Now let the men who painted the picture No. 1 defend themselves from the Republican candidate down to the Assistant Secretary to the Treasury.

An Alibi in Advance. Incidentally, let me say this before I leave the subject: The figures of $200,000,000 are for 1927 appropriation bills so far signed in 1928, and those pending for the December session of Congress will drive it far above that figure for 1928. Is it any wonder that the Republican National Committee put the best minds to work figuring out this alibi in the campaign textbook? You can see by what they are actuated. You can see what they had in their minds.

They expected that some time during this campaign these figures would be laid before the American public and, in order to squelch themselves they set up an alibi in advance.

Now, let me say something in a general way about the fiscal reports of the United States Government. They come about as being a Chinese puzzle as anything I ever saw in my life. Why, an ordinary man in the street could have no understanding of them. They challenge the ingenuity of an accountant. They were prepared much the same way in my mind until I invented a plain, simple, common, ordinary, everyday, understandable description of the finances that anybody who could read or write could very readily understand.

Complicated Reports. I often wonder if they are made complicated by design, because they very readily lend themselves to misrepresentation. Analysis of them by an ordinary person is very nearly impossible. The figures I have given you tonight—you can take my word for it—are right. You will see a specific denial of them during the rest of the campaign. All you hear will be general language that to build up and make good the first picture that we have destroyed by the second one. I have described the Republican picture as No. 1. I have painted the second picture by the facts from the record, and now there is a third picture. Let me paint that for you. The third picture is the neglect of the postponement of the failure to appropriate for certain well known wants of the Government.

Text of Gov. Smith's Sedalia Speech

In Washington they have invented some new kind of trick bookkeeping. I confess no very great familiarity with it, but it would not be allowed to operate in the State of New York.

The Third Picture.

This form of bookkeeping is to pledge a large sum of money for a public improvement, and then make available only a very small fractional part, evidently done for political purposes—coming into a national campaign, commit the party to some great public improvement, promise a lot, give a little, with the hope you can over the election. If you win out, do the best you can about it, and if you lose, pass the buck to the other fellow.

This, I propose to explain in the third picture.

In the third picture let us first take the great waste in the Federal Government. How much rent do you think we are paying every year for rent of quarters and buildings in which to transact the public business? What is the Government's rent roll? It is just a little over twenty millions dollars a year, and I am reliably informed that some property is rented at a figure that returns in excess of 12 per cent on the investment to the owner of the property. Now, there is no economy in this. There is no business in it. There is no reason why the Government should pay twenty million dollars a year for rent. Why is this a necessary? Here is the reason for it.

Unused Government Land.

Beginning as far back as 1913, the Government has been acquiring parcels of land for the purpose of putting up Federal structures in which to conduct the business of the Government. They extend all over the United States. The minute they are purchased by the Federal Government they are lifted out of the taxable assets of the municipalities where they are located and all over the United States today there are large and costly and expensive plots of land purchased as far back as 1913, upon which not a single brick has been laid. Is there any economy in this?

The Government is not losing the interest on the money invested, but every municipality throughout the country is losing the taxable value that is represented by the cost of the property. There are several of them, by the way, right here in the State of Missouri, that were purchased as far back as 1917 and allowed to lie idle.

Let us get a few glaring examples of that, wherein we find not only the waste of having purchased the land, but the consequent loss because of a lack of building facilities.

Examples of Neglect.

We shall take first, Brooklyn, in my own city of New York. In 1915, 12 years ago, a plot of land was purchased for $290,000. Up to and including this year not a single dollar has ever been appropriated to put a building on it, and the Federal Government is paying in cash $60,000 a year for the rent of outside quarters for the transaction of the public business. What is the economy in that? Where does that do to picture No. 1? No. 2 did not destroy it, we shall destroy it with this evidence, and we shall destroy also any claim that there is any efficient management of the Government.

In Binghamton, N. Y., a plot of ground was purchased in 1915 for $100,000. Not a brick was ever laid on it. There it stands, empty and idle, the City of Binghamton defeated of the income from it in taxation, and the Federal Government holding it there. And, mind you, during all this time the postal service is suffering, because if there was reason for additional facilities as far back as 1915, how much greater reason must there be in 1923, when the postal business doubles every 10 years?

"Glaring Inefficiency."

Here is another glaring example of inefficiency and of neglect. In 1927, $2,890,000 was paid for a site for a Federal building in the city of Chicago. The plans for that building called for one costing $14,250,000 and at the last session of Congress they appropriated $300,000, not enough to lay half the foundation of the structure. And in the meanwhile, they are paying $243,000 a year rent to carry on the postal business of the city of Chicago.

In Pittsburgh, a site was purchased in 1926 for $2,077,000. A building was projected to cost $8,500,000; $200,000 was appropriated, not sufficient to build the foundation, and they were paying $123,000 in rent per year to carry on their business.

There is the statement on the record before the House Committee on Appropriations that there is an actual annual loss of $95,000 because of lack of proper facilities. I could go through this list, but it would take all night. Let me conclude it by just saying to you that there are more than one hundred such examples, dating back as far as 1912, more than one hundred parcels of land spread over this country, purchased by the Government for Federal buildings upon which there has never been a brick laid or a dollar of appropriation made to progress them. Is that economy? Is that efficiency? (Applause.)

Quotes Postmaster General. No business concern in the United States could last very long that would attempt to conduct its business in that way. Let us see what the Postmaster General said about it. We will take him as a witness. As far back as 1921, this letter was put into the public records before the joint commission on the postal service:

"Let me call your attention to the fact that the business of the postoffice, doubling every 10 years, can never be placed on an efficient and stabilized basis until the erection of suitable places is planned, not only on an economical basis, but from a scientific service viewpoint."

Incidentally, let me call your attention to the fact that the Postmaster-General is on record as declaring that the postal department rents furniture on a 20-year lease, and upon the rental of furniture over a period of 20 years there is a loss of 72 per cent, or considerably over half a million dollars. In order to try and make good that false, imaginary picture No. 1, the great Government of the United States is renting furniture. No business man, large or small, and no housewife with any brains, would conduct either the business or the household under any such methods as those prevailing in the postal service under this particularly "economical and efficient" administration. (Applause.)

For Federal Flood Cost.

On the subject of the trick bookkeeping in picture No. 3, let me say something about a matter that concerns the people of Missouri and the adjoining states, and that is the treatment of flood control on the Mississippi River. Congress has been backing and filling, they have been arguing it pro and con, they have this man's idea about it, and that man's idea about it. They are reading engineers' reports, and they are as hard to make out as the fiscal transactions of the Government, just as difficult, but they are not handling it as a great big rational problem that concerns all the people of the United States.

To my way of thinking, instead of wasting time debating and arguing over what this state and that state should pay, the whole improvement ought to be financed by the Federal Government itself in the interest of the whole country. (Applause.) I am satisfied that the eastern and western parts of this country draw no sharp line when human life and property are at stake. Well, what did they do about it? They made a gesture. They authorized an appropriation of $225,000,000. That sounds big. It sounds big, but they only appropriated $5,000,000 of it. (Laughter and applause.) That does not look to me like a serious attempt to solve the flood control problem on the Mississippi River.

"Here you are; here is $225,000,000—but here is 15 of it today and the rest bye and bye—maybe." (Laughter and applause.)

About Indian Welfare.

In any event, whether we pay it or not, we have the alternative of passing it on to the next administration. Instead of trifling and wasting time, money and effort, the flood waters should be harnessed so that they could be made to work for the American people instead of working against them.

Ah, and now we have my distinguished friend, the chairman of the Republican National Committee, Dr. Work! I like to call the Doctor as a witness every now and then, because he feels it his duty once in a while to put out a little statement about what the Democrats understand about this campaign, and he always feels so perfectly content with himself. He feels all right. I want him as a witness to prove what is being done to the American Indian and the American children by failure to make adequate and proper appropriation for the promotion of their health, their education and their general welfare.

It is a matter of record that they lack proper hospital accommodations. It is a matter of record that they lack proper educational systems. And it is further a matter of record that the Government has been attempting to take care of the Indian children, as far as their food is concerned, at the rate of nine cents per day per child. Look that up and you will see that is right. Don't let the Doctor deny that, because it is in his own report.

Work Tells About Neglect.

Now let me call him as a witness, because he sums the whole thing all up in a very few words. Here is what he says:

"Years of financial neglect require larger appropriations, if the Government is to perform its full duty to the American Indian." What has the doctor got to say about that today? Today he is attempting to sustain the false picture known as picture No. 1. He is doing everything he can today as Chairman of the Republican National Committee to make that picture stand up in the public view. But look how severely he criticized his own party in the spring of the year, when he was not chairman of the Republican National Committee, but when he was the head of the Department of the Interior charged with the care of the American Indian.

If time permitted, I could lay before you from the record a full account of the palpable and serious neglect of proper housing for the soldiers in our army. Just one witness to make good picture No. 2 of palpable neglect, Secretary Davis. Unfortunately, I have left the memorandum at home, but I have a good memory (laughter), and I will take a chance. It was substantially this: "The treatment so far as housing is concerned, of the American soldier, amounts almost to a national disgrace."

A. B. Fall on Economy.

Of course, every now and then you have to get a little humor out of this campaigning. It is a hard, grinding business and if you did not have a use of humor, if you couldn't get a little laugh out of it now and then, it would probably kill you. I got a laugh the other day, and I will hand it along to you. In going through the document on this question of Federal economy, this communication was discovered. It was addressed to President Harding:

"My dear Mr. President:

"I thank you very much for handing me the letters of Gen. Dawes, commenting upon my letter to you with reference to the savings of this department. It is very gratifying to know that Gen. Dawes is in accord with me in the matter of true efficiency." (Signed) Albert B. Fall." (Prolonged laughter.)

Let me remark in passing that the Secretary of the Interior wrote that letter about the economy and the efficiency of his department at about the time he was arranging a transfer of the oil fields to his department from the Department of the Navy, in order that he might be able to lease them to a private company that according to the testimony before the committee, expected to realize a profit of $100,000,000.

"What Does Hoover Think?"

Now, what does Candidate Hoover think about these three pictures? He must have some ideas about them. (Laughter.) He must know the facts, and he must know that the facts recited by me here tonight in the making of picture No. 2 come from the record, and what does he think of No. 3? Does he approve? He has said he is strong for the Coolidge policies. Does he approve that kind of company? Does he approve of a national economy that starves out the Indian children and neglects to provide proper housing, sleeping and eating facilities for the country's very first line of defense? (Applause.) Does he see the pictures in their true light? If he does not, then I am prepared to say he does not understand the operations of the Government.

Real economy could be brought about, real and substantial economy, by a reorganization of the old, broken-down structure of the Federal Government, by the abolishment of useless boards and commissions that overlap and duplicate effort. This was promised in 1921 under Harding, promised again in 1924 under Coolidge, promised again in 1928 and reiterated in the speech of acceptance of the candidate, but so far as any living person is concerned, there is no sign of getting any part of it.

Planning for the Future.

Real economy cannot only be brought about by reorganization of the Government, but by careful planning, not for today alone, but also for the years to come. While I agree that not a single dollar of public money should be wasted, I still make the cold, raw statement that there is no economy in keeping back the necessary funds for the proper needs of the Government. It simply gets you over today. It is a kind of process of trying to live through these four years with the hope that you may get some place in the next four years. (Laughter.)

I promise you and the people of the United States, that if I get into the White House I will face every one of these problems as fearlessly as I faced them in my own state. I will meet them in a broad, clear-minded, businesslike way, determine them, settle them and get them out of the way, and the only hope of their final determination, to my way of thinking, is in an overwhelming Democratic victory on the sixth of next November. (Great applause.)

SINCLAIR'S CONTRACT FOR SALT CREEK OIL HELD TO BE INVALID

such bidder if the contract should become onerous to it and valuable to the Government, to terminate it. If, conversely the contract should become burdensome to the Government and advantageous to the bidder, such bidder the right to compel the Government to bear this burden for the longest term provided in the contract.

Had No Right to Sell Oil.

"It is established by decisions of the United States Supreme Court that there is no general power in the Secretary of the Interior apart from statute which might enable him to sell the oil in the manner required by that section, in my opinion he fails to bind the United States."

"It appears that when the Secretary of the Interior (Work) granted the renewal under the option he did so upon the advice of the solicitor of the Interior Department, but the questions here discussed regarding the initial validity of the contract were not raised by the solicitor. Nor did they form the basis for any protest and enable renewal then pending before your department."

Contract for Five Years.

In the five years during which the original contract was operative, the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Co., which is owned jointly by the Sinclair Consolidated and the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, took from the Salt Creek field 542,536 barrels of oil at an average of $1.73 a barrel—a total of $937,737.359.

Decision Is the Third Undoing

Assistant Secretary of the Interior Edward C. Finney expressed the opinion that the effect of the ruling would be to force Sinclair to go into court under mandamus proceedings to compel the Government to continue the contract. Failure by Sinclair to do this, he said, would automatically terminate the agreement which has run now for six years.

"The opinion," said former Judge Finney, "rests on the option granted in the original contract, and holds that this option was illegal because Secretary Fall had not authorized it when bids for this oil were called for."

The opinion, he said, hinged entirely on this point—and this, incidentally, reversed the prior opinion of the Solicitor of the Interior Department, Ernest O. Patterson, on which Work relied when he made the renewal of the contract with Sinclair last February. Patterson contended that Fall had authorized to grant the option and that therefore there was no discretion but to renew the contract.

Ignored Disclosures.

But the Attorney-General's opinion, while declaring the Sinclair agreement illegal, ignored entirely the disclosures by the Senate Public Lands Committee last spring which led to the resolution for a special investigation that is still pending. The demand for this was based, not upon the illegality of the option, but upon the discovery that just before and just after Fall awarded Sinclair the contract, Dec. 20, 1922, he had received first $10,000 in cash, then $25,000 more in cash from Sinclair.

Fall's son-in-law, Mahlon T. Everhart, after years of refusal to testify, finally admitted these facts to the Senate committee Jan. 24. Nearly a month later, Dr. Work, Feb. 20, permitted Sinclair to begin another five-year period of receiving the Government's oil. Work and his subordinates in the Interior Department made the renewal disregarding what Senators Walsh, Nye and others of the investigating committee considered prima facie evidence calling for cancellation of the contract.

President Coolidge, according to Mr. Sargent, directed the Department of Justice on April 2 to investigate. Since then repeated inquiry at the Department of Justice elicited only the statement that the investigation was in progress but had not been completed.

Third Upset for Fall.

Invalidation of the Salt Creek contract makes the third undoing of Fall's work, the United States Supreme Court having nullified the Teapot Dome lease to Sinclair and the Elk Hills naval reserve lease to Doheny, in both cases on the ground of fraud and corruption.

The Department of Justice in declaring the Salt Creek contract void, raises no question relating to the $5000 that passed from Sinclair to Fall before and after the contract was let. By omitting this phase of the case the story behind the Salt Creek contract is left out—a story that began with Sinclair's visit to Fall's Three Rivers, N. M., ranch in November, 1922, the handing of $10,000 to Everhart for Fall, then Sinclair's telegram sent from Pratt, Kan., a few days later when he was on his way back to New York submitting his bid for the Salt Creek oil.

Fall simultaneously telegraphed Assistant Secretary Finney telling him not to be too formal about the bids. Had Finney been formal, Sinclair's bid could not have been received, for it was filed at Pratt nine hours after the time for filing—as fixed in the public advertisements of the Department—expired. But arriving in Washington eleven hours late Sinclair's bid was thus received, considered and then accepted.

Fall Cleared Way for Sinclair.

First, however, Fall, who returned to Washington, rejected all the 12 other bids. Then he permitted Sinclair to change the name of his bidding company from the Mammoth Oil Co. to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Co., half of which is owned by the Standard of Indiana. Robert Stewart, chairman of the board of Indiana Standard, and Sinclair had already been closely allied and were among the four who shared in the secret profits of the Continental Trading Co. of Canada.

Concentrating upon the investigation of the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills Naval Reserve leases, and this last winter upon the Continental Trading Co.'s affairs, the Senate had paid scant attention to the Salt Creek contract interwoven with the others.

When Everhart's long-delayed testimony revealed the close chronology of this Salt Creek contract and Sinclair's cash payments to Fall, the Senate voted for the special investigation now pending. Chairman Nye and Senator Walsh had indicated an intention of again employing special counsel to prosecute, but the Attorney-General's action today obviates that.

When Dr. Work as Secretary of the Interior allowed Sinclair to exercise the option and renewed the contract for five years he acted without consulting the Department of Justice. Instead he relied upon a solicitor's opinion which Fall had full authority to make the contract and the option. This opinion of the solicitor of the department is now reported to be "lost."

SHOTS FIRED IN POLICE CHASE

Fugitive Caught After He Runs When Being Questioned.

A man who said he was Eugene Smith, 24 years old, was captured by Detective Sergeant Henry Klug at 10:45 o'clock this morning, following a chase from Ninth and Chestnut streets to Eighth street, near Walnut, in which Klug fired several shots in the air.

When Klug stopped Smith to question him, the latter turned and fled east in Chestnut and then south in Eighth street. Following his arrest, he explained that he ran because he did not want to spend any time in the holdover, as he had just arrived in town from the East. He is being held for questioning.

Pepsodent

—a priceless formula to remove ugly film from teeth

It's film that turns teeth dull and cloudy—that fosters serious tooth and gum disorders. You must remove it daily

RECENTLY hundreds have written letters asking for a scientific explanation of the new method of tooth and gum care known as Pepsodent.

Written statements in current magazines attesting it from people whose smiles are famous in theatrical and social circles has caused considerable comment.

That the dental profession in overwhelming numbers is using it in daily practice at the chair and is prescribing it to patients has made a deep impression.

Thousands thus influenced have changed lately from ordinary brushing ways to this. So that you, too, may better know the vital scientific truths surrounding Pepsodent, we publish this advertisement.

A priceless scientific formula, not one whose appeal is price

Pepsodent never was nor ever will be made to compete in price with a cheap dentifrice. Based on years of scientific research and new-day discoveries, its formula is priceless.

The price to you is based upon great volume. To lower it would mean to take away the costly agents for which science recommends it. We could make Pepsodent to sell at a lower price, but it would not be the Pepsodent millions now employ to whiten cloudy teeth as no other method will, and to combat serious tooth and gum disorders.

That's why we say: BEWARE, WHERE PRECIOUS TEETH ARE PLACED AT STAKE! First consider health and beauty—and dentist's bills.

FILM—Discolors teeth and then destroys them

Today dental science, almost without exception, urges and prescribes a special film-removing dentifrice.

To film alone is traced cloudy, stained-looking teeth. Film, too, is the chief cause of the most dreaded tooth and gum disorders. And, in later life, these develop grave disturbances throughout the entire system that medicine is powerless to correct. Everyday fatalities by the score may be indirectly traced to film.

Through clinical study and in practice, thousands of cases have been brought to light that prove this beyond all doubt. That is why, today, film and how you must remove it is your dentist's greatest problem.

Look for FILM this way

Run your tongue across the teeth. If you feel a slippery, slimy coating—that is film.

It clings tightly to teeth and defies all ordinary ways of brushing. It gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs stains from food and smoking.

Film hardens into tartar. Germs by the myriad breed in it. And germs with tartar are the chief cause of pyorrhea and decay.

Now FILM removed new way

For the sole purpose of removing film Pepsodent was compounded. The new-found agents it embodies act first to curdle film in gentle safety to enamel. Then brushing takes it off completely. Old ways made necessary long and harmful brushing. Now that is ended.

This way acts to firm the gums and restore color.

Pepsodent is the greatest step made in a half century's study of tooth cleansing methods.

Give Pepsodent ten days

If teeth are dull, "off color," that is film. If you are prone to tooth and gum disorders, that may be film also. Remove this film for ten days and you will note a great improvement.

Get a large tube wherever dentifrices are sold. Or write for a 10-day tube to The Pepsodent Co., 1104 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago. Do not delay another day.

Pepsodent—a formula that differs in action from any other—that more than a dentifrice is a scientific home prophylaxis.

The Film

that forms constantly on your teeth.
First it stains and discolours the enamel. Then it destroys them.
Frequently ill health results.

Under high dental supervision, the Pepsodent formula is constantly kept abreast of modern medical thought. Use Pepsodent twice a day. See your dentist twice a year. That is the utmost science knows to do in keeping teeth white and healthy.

U. S. Rubber Co. Withdraws Opposition to Proposal Favored by Other Creditors.

The company now is in a position to start with a clean slate after paying $120,000 in cash and $40,000 in notes on claims totaling $360,000, in accordance with the plan agreed on by the creditors, who have shown a mutual disposition to save the company.

Samuel D. Nichols, president of the company, announced operations would be resumed at once and that three factories would be running at full capacity within a week.

SIDENER DEFENDS, FRANKLIN MILLER RAKES CONDITIONS

Circuit Attorney Reiterates
He Has Cleaned Up City —Opponent Declares Action Is Needed.

Circuit Attorney Sidener, candidate for re-election, again made a speech in justification of his official record last night, while his Democratic opponent, former Circuit Judge Franklin Miller, at another meeting, repeated his promise "to run the office without being run by somebody else."

Continuing his policy of calm discussion of the Circuit Attorney's functions without reference to Sidener, Miller told a Fifth Ward Democratic audience at 620 Chestnut street that the election would give the city an opportunity for "a thorough housecleaning."

"There is no place in the city for crime," he said. "The city needs a thorough cleaning up and I am sure I can give it, because I have the support of the right-thinking people of the city."

"I promise you four years of faithful service. That is all any man can pledge. If I am elected there will be justice, tempered with mercy, for every man."

In his speech before a Twenty-Fourth Ward meeting at the Swedish National Society building, 1157 South Kingshighway, Sidener reviewed the figures on convictions in the criminal courts since he took office seven and a half years ago, repeating his contention that he rid the city of organized crime and declaring that 85 per cent of the defendants brought to trial in Circuit Court were convicted.

He declared that when he was indicted in the notorious Rutherford case for compounding a felony, the indictment was obtained to justify local newspapers which had predicted the action, and charged that the newspapers had fought an unfair battle against him.

Again he declared that the city needed "a prosecutor, not a persecutor, someone with a human heart."

BRANCH RICKEY DENOUNCES GOV. SMITH IN SPEECH

Vice President of Cardinals Urges Election of the Republican Ticket.

Branch Rickey, vice president and former manager of the Cardinals, entered the political arena last night at a meeting at the Swedish National Society building, 1157 South Kingshighway, at which he denounced Gov. Smith and the Democratic party and urged his audience to vote the Republican ticket.

Sam Bredon, owner of the Cardinals, is quoted by friends as saying he intends to vote for Smith although Bredon is a Republican. Bredon, however, refused to make any statement for publication, saying he was not a politician and did not care to participate actively in political discussion.

OF NEGRO CHARGED
BY A. M. E. BISHOPRepublicans Seek Democratic Votes in South by Saying They, Too, Will VOTE FOR SMITHNominee Recognizes Group as Part of Body Politic With Rights as Such, Asserts F. Q. Morton.The Republican party has been guilty of gross double-dealing with the Negro voter in the present campaign, Bishop R. C. Ransom of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, declared last night at Maccabee Hall, 911 North Vandeventer avenue, at a political rally under auspices of the Smith-foc-President Colored League and the Associated Colored Democratic Ward Clubs of St. Louis."The Republican party is trying to assure Southern Democrats that it will treat the Negro as the most rabid Southerner would have him treated," he said. "At the same time it is taking for granted that the Negro, after the custom of past years, will vote the Republican ticket blindly, regardless of the fact that he is being betrayed by the party to get the so-called "illy-white" vote of the South and break up Democratic control south of the Mason-Dixon line.""The managers of Mr. Hoover now see a chance for Republican leadership in the South if they can show that they are definitely for the suppression of the Negro.

However, all black men are not fools. This time they must repudiate the Republican party and come to the standard of Democracy if for no other reason than to show that their vote cannot be taken for granted, that they are just as independent politically as the farm bloc, for instance."Time for Negro to Act.
Bishop Ransom, a resident of New York, paid a tribute to the white men who have worked for the betterment of the Negro's social and economic position, but declared it was time the Negro was looking out for himself."After 60 years of freedom, the race should have advanced far enough for you to fight for yourselves," he said. "It is not fair to let the whites fight our battles without our help. We have had a part in the building of this Nation—an humble part than the white man, it is true, but a part, nevertheless. It follows that we must take an active interest in our Government, voting with the party that can help our race and the Nation most. In this election only the Democratic party fits that description."Finds Smith's View Fair.
"I shall not say that Gov. Smith has gone out of his way to help the Negro," said Morton, a Negro graduate of Harvard. "He does, however, recognize the Negro as such and as part of the body politic, and as such sees that he has his part in the actual business of running the Government. That, after all, is all we, or any other group, may fairly ask."Morton enumerated several specific instances in which Gov. Smith has shown fair treatment to Negroes in New York, where many responsible political jobs, such as Morton's, are held by members of the race.Both Bishop Ransom and Morton asserted that the Ku Klux Klan was supporting Hoover, and urged the audience to regard that fact, too, in deciding for whom to vote.
The same thought was repeated by Joseph L. McEmore, Negro candidate for Congress in the Twelfth District, and by Dr. William J.
Tompkins, regional director of the Negro organization, who presided.COULD NOT PAY FOR PAVING
BECAUSE OF TORNADO EXPENSEMore than 60 property owners appeared before the Board of Public Service yesterday to protect against the proposed repaving of Westminster place from Spring to Walton avenues. They argued that the present wood-block paving was in good condition, while some, from the district are damaged by last year's tornado, declared their subsequent expenses would make it impossible to meet street improvement bills.Property owners in the two restricted blocks between Boyle and Taylor avenues alone favored the replacing of wood blocks with asphalt, their spokesman, Wilbur
B. Jones, explaining that they were interested only in the paving of their section of the street and were indifferent to what was done in the remaining blocks.

ROBINSON CALLS BORAH SWAGGERING PARTISAN

Declares Senator at Election Time, Drops His Armor of "Righteousness."

By the Associated Press.

BOISE, Idaho, Oct. 17.—Striking a contrast between the Borah of the Senate and the Borah of the present campaign, Senator Joseph T. Robinson contended in a campaign speech here last night that the Idaho Senator at election time, puts aside "his armor of righteousness" and becomes a "swashbuckling political partisan."

"Senator Borah and I were personal friends," Robinson declared. "We have been associated together for many years in the Senate, he on one side of the aisle, and I on the other."

"For the greater part of the time he has been moved by exalted conceptions of public duty. When election time approaches, however, something comes over the Senator that it is difficult for those not so close to him to understand. He puts aside the armor of righteousness and buckles on the garb of partisanship and goes forth a swashbuckling political partisan."

"The lone eagle abruptly ends his flight toward a heavenly Utopia and swoops to perch himself on the filthy boughs with vultures."

"Senator Borah declined the second place on the Republican ticket four years ago because he disapproved of the policies of President Coolidge. Mr. Hoover has pledged himself to carry on the Coolidge policies and Senator Borah, with characteristic inconsistency, becomes his chief advocate on the hustings."

Robinson then quoted from the Congressional Record statements by Borah questioning Hoover's capacity to handle food relief funds and a charge that Hoover had no "conception of the expense of the taxpayer." These declarations of Borah in the Senate, the nominee said, "offset the very extravagant praise of Mr. Hoover by Mr. Borah as a political partisan."

BORAH URGES WOMEN TO DEFEAT GOV. SMITH

Tells Audience in North Carolina That New Yorker Wants to Overthrow Prohibition.

By the Associated Press.

SALISBURY, N. C., Oct. 17.—

Carrying the presidential fight of Herbert Hoover into the traditionally Democratic State of North Carolina, Senator Borah of Idaho, in a speech here last night, called on the women voters to prevent the overthrow of prohibition by electing the Republican candidate.

The Senator at the outset congratulated the women of the nation on their "activity and their leadership in this campaign."

"Without the women and their influence and leadership," he declared, "the eighteenth amendment would never have been written into the Constitution, and without the women and their leadership it can not be kept in the Constitution and enforced."

Borah reiterated his charge that the Democratic presidential nominee desired to "tear down" the prohibition law and said that Smith in his Milwaukee speech proposed "to destroy the effort which you women have made to protect the American home."

"No one can read that speech," Borah said, "and doubt the purpose behind the fight in this campaign." The Senator added that John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Pierre du Pont, a Smith supporter, also "left the Republican party" in order to "wipe out prohibition."

"There never has been a low upon the statute books," Borah continued in reference to big liquor control "that the liquor traffic was not opposed and fought it and violated it."

"This is the old fight in another form on a broader scale and means a million times more than it ever did before."

"Speaking for myself and myself alone, I sincerely declared that I would rather see my party go down in defeat, eat the dust of defeat, than to see it temporize or cowardly betray the Constitution of the United States. It is in the Constitution, it was put there through your effort and I want to see it upheld and enforced."

Borah discovered in the audience Senator Lee S. Overman, junior Senator of North Carolina, and went over to shake hands with him and Mrs. Gregory, his daughter, before commencing his speech. The Idahoan, in opening his address, praised the record of Senator Overman.

"Who put this question of repealing the eighteenth amendment?" he asked. "It is now deliberate judgment that the fight on prohibition is not between the Republican and Democratic parties, but it is a fight between the great masses of the people and Tammany Hall, a New York organization which has been upholding the liquor traffic in that city for the past 150 years."

Borah will make his second appeal at Charlotte tonight to the voters of North Carolina. The Charlotte Hoover leaders have installed amplifiers in three halls nearby the Auditorium, where he will deliver his address, to take care of an expected overflow crowd. His speech will start at 6:30 p. m. Central time. It will be broadcast from coast to coast.

LABOR CONDITIONS FOUNDSATISFACTORY IN MISSOURI

Department of Labor Reports Industries Maintaining Usual Forces for Season.

Satisfactory labor conditions prevailed generally throughout Missouri during September, with indications pointing to a continuation as long as the weather is favorable for outdoor operations, according to a United States Department of Labor report, issued today.

As to St. Louis, the report stated: "Wholesale hardware houses, drug and chemical establishments, boot and shoe factories, leather products plants, lumber yards and railroads reported usual forces employed for this period of the year. Expected seasonal increases occurred in flour mills. Fruit-canning establishments operated at capacity, which will probably be continued for another six weeks, providing employment for several hundred people."

"River work, highway construction, municipal improvements and farm operations continue to employ a large number of unskilled workers. Many large building projects are under way and resident tradesmen should have little difficulty in finding employment for the remainder of the open season. Clerical and factory workers were in somewhat better demand than during August."

298 ACRES FOR CITY AIRPORT

Appropriation of $164,778 for Purchase to Come Up Friday.

An ordinance to appropriate $164,778 of the $2,000,000 airport bond issue for the purchase of 298 acres of land adjoining Lambert-St. Louis Flying Field as part of the Municipal Airport is being drafted in Director of Public Welfare Salisbury's office and will be submitted to the Board of Aldermen Friday.

Mal. Albert Bond Lambert, who is selling the site of the present flying field to the city for $40,000, holds options for the city on the adjoining acres which expire Nov. 11. Mayor Miller will be asked to sign the ordinance promptly as an emergency measure in order that the purchase may be concluded before the options expire.

40 HARVARD PROFESSORS COME OUT FOR GOV. SMITH

Issue Joint Statement Approving New Yorker's Stand on Water Power and Farm Relief.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 17.—More than 40 professors of Harvard University, including Charles Townsend Copeland, Boylston professor emeritus of rhetoric and oratory; Felix Frankfurter, professor of administrative law, and F. W. Taussig, professor of economics, yesterday declared for Gov. Smith.

Declaring that "some of us favor national prohibition and some oppose it," the professors' joint statement declared in part: "We think that differences of opinion on this question should not be allowed to overshadow other important matters, such as the establishment of friendly relations with other countries, including Latin-America, the protection of national water power, the relief of agricultural depression, as to which Gov. Smith's desire for action contrasts sharply with the inactivity of the administration to which his opponent has belonged."

EAT FISH FOR BODY STRENGTH

This Is the Advice of Two of Canada's Foremost Athletes and Trainers of Real Men.

Dr. Donnelly, a well known food authority, says: "From a medical standpoint, I would like to say that the sooner the country realizes what a valuable asset to the health of the community the consumption of more fish would be, the better the general health of the community will be. I really think that many disease conditions prevalent in our communities are directly due to inefficient feeding of the individual, and a more regular use of fish might help to control many incidental conditions of digestive disturbances now so prevalent amongst our people."

Americans today are safe-guarding their health more and more. More fish, and particularly sea fish—Nordic Fillet of Haddock—is being consumed than ever before. Nordic Fillet of Haddock is the new fresh sea fish which comes in package form, and is without any doubt by far the finest fish ever offered the public.

Every one is urged to eat more fish. Nordic Fillets are by far the best from every standpoint, so start serving them in your home today. Get them from your local market now and have them several times each week.

ROW IN LAW FIRM AILED AT HEARING BY EX-PARTNERS

Alexander R. Russell Asserts Randolph Laughlin Kept Full Share of Profits From Him.

THREATS TO BREAK UP CONCERN CITED

Clients Who Failed to Pay Fees and Quarrel Over Discharging Stenographer Also Are Factors in Suit.

Randolph Laughlin and Alexander R. Russell, former law partners, yesterday opposed each other at taking of depositions in Russell's suit for an accounting of profits in the old law firm of Laughlin, Frumberg, Blodgett & Russell.

Russell tried to show he had not shared fully in the firm's prosperity, and Laughlin counter attacked with questions intended to prove certain business brought to the firm by Russell failed to produce fees. Russell and Harry Blodgett left the firm last December, Laughlin and A. M. Frumberg continuing as partners.

Not all the cross-fire between Laughlin and Russell concerned fees. Russell testified that Laughlin several times threatened to break up the law partnership, prior to the actual dissolution.

Tells of Partner's Threats.

"Once you threatened to dissolve the firm," Russell deposed, "when I would not yield to your demand that I discharge my stenographer. You didn't think she showed you proper respect, but I was unable to see the justice of such a claim."

Laughlin replied the stenographer had violated the firm's rules of conduct for employees. Russell denied this and declared she was the best stenographer in the office. Russell, it appeared, had retained the stenographer by paying her salary out of his own pocket after Laughlin had decreed that no more of the firm's money would be paid to her as salary.

One case in which the law firm wound up "in the red," according to Russell's testimony, was that of M. S. Hawkins, mortgage and loan company promoter, who was represented by Frumberg and Russell in a criminal action in Indianapolis. In payment of a fee, Hawkins gave the lawyers a $7000 note which was ostensibly secured by a certificate for 95 shares of American Telephone & Telegraph stock. The law firm used the note and stock certificate to obtain a loan at a local bank, only to discover later, Russell said, that the note was worthless and the stock certificate actually represented only one share, someone having fraudulently raised the figure to 95 shares. The law firm had to make good the loss at the bank, Russell testified.

Explains Loss of Fees.

Asked about certain lawsuits obtained by him in which the firm collected no fees, Russell explained one client went bankrupt and another client won a claim against a man who turned out to be judgment-proof. A third case in which the firm worked his client, who had a damage claim against the United Railways, transferred his case to another lawyer, who was reputed to "own the courts."

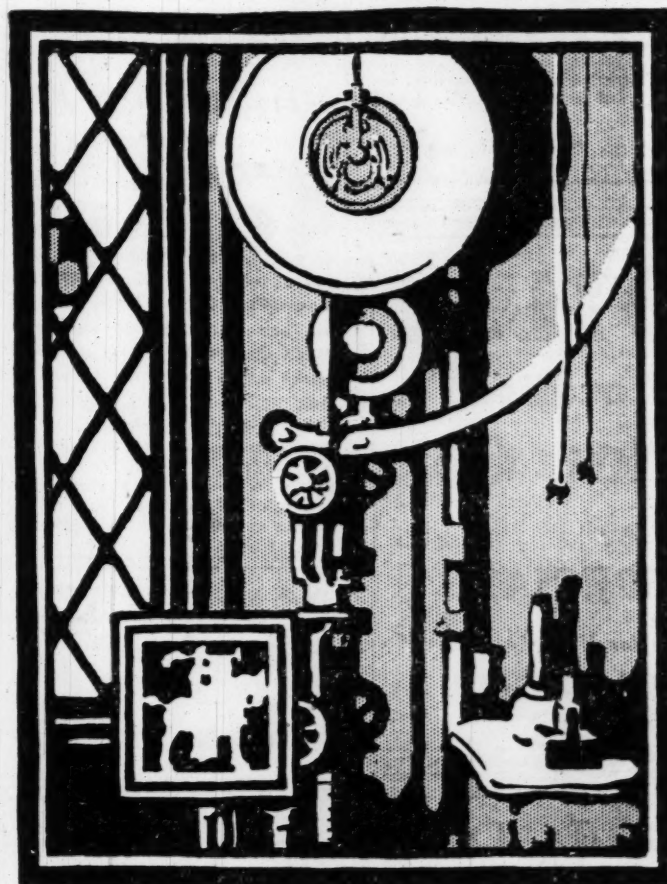

The supposed influential lawyer settled the case for $1900. Russell contends about $25,000 still is due him from the partnership. He could not remember the total he has received, but did recall receipt of $10,000 as his share of the firm's fee for representing the plaintiff in the suit to break the will of the late Ellis Wainwright, brewer. In the division of this fee, it appeared, Attorney Frumberg received a 20 per cent bonus for getting the business, in addition to sharing equally with his partners in the remainder of the fee.

Russell's deposition was given in the forenoon in the office of Laughlin & Frumberg. In the afternoon Russell, at his own office, took testimony in his own behalf, examining Martin J. Beirne, bookkeeper for the John W. Thompson estate, which Laughlin represented in extensive litigation. The witness testified that Laughlin received fees totaling $110,000 from the estate for his services. Russell contends he is entitled to 20 per cent of this sum, based on the partnership agreement, but Laughlin disputed this contention.

C. M. HAY CALLS G. O. P. PROSPERITY CRY EFFRONTERY

During Republican Regime Farm Values in Missouri Decreased $1,304,000,000, He Says at Sedalia.

ASSERTS 175 BANKS FAILED IN THAT TIME

Denounces Grabbing by Power Trust and Corruption Exposed During Oil Investigation.

By CURTIS A. BETTS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SEDALIA, Mo., Oct. 17.—Charles M. Hay, Democratic nominee for United States Senator, ridiculed the Republican campaign for a continuance in power "to preserve prosperity," in an address yesterday afternoon in the livestock pavilion at the State Fair Grounds.

After reciting statistics on the number of bank failures during the past two Republican administrations, and figures showing that of the 430,000 corporations in the United States, 175,000 made no profit in 1932, that 215 made 40 per cent of the profit made by all, and that more than 100,000,000 of the population of the country did not make enough money to pay income taxes, Hay took up the situation in Missouri.

"The Republican prosperity cry becomes nothing other than effrontery," he said. "When the chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee has the temerity to appeal for the election of a Republican Senator in Missouri in order to preserve the present prosperity, this gentleman evidently does not know what has been going on in Missouri. He certainly does not know that during the last seven and a half years when the Republican profess to review with boastful satisfaction, farm property values have depreciated $1,304,000,000. More than one-third of their value at the end of the Woodrow Wilson administration. He evidently does not know that in this State during the last seven and a half years, there have been 175 bank failures, as against 17 bank failures during the eight years of Woodrow Wilson. He must not know that, while Missouri farmers were trying to keep cool with Coolidge, hundreds and hundreds of their far were sold under mortgage and, while the country bankers were keeping cool with Coolidge, their assets froze and a lot of them went broke. In one county of this State, seven banks have failed during the last four years and the amazing fact is that under the benign administration of their affairs it cost more to wind them up than the amount for which they broke."

Reviews National Scandals.

"The story of the past seven and half years is the story of aggregation of wealth and concentration of power; it is the story of the fattening of the few and crushing of many. What the country needs at this hour is leadership that will apply the old Jeffersonian principle—equal and exact justice to all men—that will sincerely seek to use the power of government so as to promote the common good and general welfare. Democratic victory in this year will mean elevation to power of that kind of leadership."

"For the most part, Hay's speech was the same that he has been delivering twice a day throughout Missouri during the past six weeks. He urged that the entire Democratic ticket be elected in the state. This, he said, "would mean the placing of all the departments and activities of the state government in the hands of capable, honest, efficient men."

He reviewed the history of the oil scandals and the scandals of the Veterans' Bureau and contrasted the Republican platform pledge for farm relief with the Democratic pledge and the promise of Gov. Smith to work out a practical plan.

He denounced the grabbing by the power trust of the water power sites of the country, and quoted with approval Gov. Smith's pledge that "under no circumstances would private monopoly be permitted to capitalize for rate-making purposes water power sites the safety of the country, and then took up the question of prohibition coupling with it his appeal for support of Gov. Smith and the national Democratic ticket. It was an appeal to Hay's dry supporters to line up for Smith, notwithstanding the New Yorker's views on prohibition.

"I know there are many Democrats, and also many Republicans, who heartily agree with the Democratic platform for farm relief, water power and utilities control, limitation of armament and for the restoration of militant honesty in Government, but who hesitate to support the national ticket for fear a Democratic victory will mean a change in the prohibition policy," he said. "Those who raise this question are sincere, earnest people. Among them are the women of the W. C. T. U. who are entitled to great respect for their faithful service to the cause of temperance."

"These people say to me: 'We

HAY IS INDORSED BY RAILWAY UNIONS

Otis F. Glenn is denounced as a "Vicious Opponent of Organized Labor."

Post-Dispatch Bureau.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—

Charles M. Hay of St. Louis, Democratic candidate to succeed

Reed in the Senate, has been indorsed by the railway brotherhoods, according to "Labor," the weekly newspaper of the brotherhoods.

The newspaper listed the following 19 candidates who it said should be supported by organized labor and progressive citizens generally:

Minnesota, Henrik Shipstead

(Farmer-Labor); Montana, Burton

E. Wheeler (Dem.); Wisconsin,

Robert M. La Follette (Rep.);

North Dakota, Lynn J. Frazier

(Rep.); Washington, Clarence C.

Zell (Dem.); Arizona, Henry F.

Ashurst (Dem.); Nebraska, Robert

H. Howell (Rep.); Tennessee, Ken-

eth McKellar (Dem.); Nevada,

Key Pittman (Dem.); California,

Key Pittman (Dem.); Florida,

John W. Johnson (Rep.); Massachusetts, David I. Walsh (Dem.);

New York, Royal S. Copeland

(Dem.); Wyoming, John B. Kendrick (Dem.); Missouri, Charles

M. Hay (Dem.); Virginia, Claude

A. Swanson (Dem.); West Virginia,

M. M. Neely (Dem.); Texas, Tom

Connally (Dem.); Illinois, A. J.

Cermak (Dem.).

"In Illinois the Republican candidate, Otis F. Glenn, is a peculiarly vicious opponent of organized labor," the newspaper said. "The only way to defeat him is by voting for his Democratic opponent, A. J.

Cermak, and labor hope the readers of this paper will do so without regard to party ties. Six years ago the progressives won a tremendous victory in senatorial elections. Everyone familiar with that contest knows that the railroad workers were largely responsible for the result."

In Texas the railroad workers' organizations supported Senator

Earle B. Mayfield against Tom Connelly in the Democratic primary.

When Connally defeated Mayfield, the brotherhoods supported the victor and explained that he had made an excellent labor and progressive record in the House.

Mayfield, they said, had been their first choice with Connally second.

EXPERT DISCUSSES SAVING VS. LIVING WAGE FOR CARMEN

Company's Economist Not Sure Time for Former Scale Has Arrived for All Industries.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 17.—

Cross examination of witnesses who testified for the St. Louis Public Service Co. in hearings for arbitration of the demands for increased wage by the 4300 union car men and electrical workers employed by the company, was resumed today before the State Public Service Commission, following a brief hearing yesterday afternoon.

Attorneys for the union spent considerable time yesterday afternoon sparring with company witnesses on economic theories and definitions of policy on a "living wage" and a "saving wage."

"Saving Wage" With Reservations.

Leslie Vickers of New York, consulting economist for the company in the wage arbitration, was cross-examined at length by O. D. Zimring of Chicago, economist for the street railway union, and said he had favored a "saving wage" for workers, but said he was not certain that the time had arrived when a "saving wage" should be paid to men in all industries.

Vickers and Lloyd Landau, attorney for the company, objected to several questions put by Zimring.

Vickers on one occasion reminded the commission: "I am under cross-examination, you know, and these questions might lead us astray from the field of direct examination."

Chairman Abner Ing observed that this was amatter for the commission to worry about, and told Vickers to answer the questions. He said the commission was not bound by rigid rules of evidence and was interested in getting all the facts.

Says Company Can't Afford It.

Vickers again testified the financial condition of the company and its ability to pay higher wages should be taken into consideration in the arbitration of wage demands, and read excerpts from court declarations declaring that this factor should be given weight in wage arbitration.

The company, as has been told,

met the men's demand for increased wages and improved working conditions with a proposal to reduce wages, asserting its present revenues were inadequate to provide a fair return upon its property valuation, with the existing wage scale.

The carmen are asking for an increase of five cents an hour in the different scales of hourly pay, with a maximum of 72 cents an hour. The present scale varies from 50 cents an hour to 67 cents an hour. The company proposes a cut of five cents an hour for drvs. Such distinguished leaders of the drys as Josephus Daniels,

Senator Carter Glass and Senator

Norris Shepard of Texas, known as the father of the prohibition amendment, are supporting the Democratic ticket.

With Smith on "Party Issues."

"Gov. Smith, as the country knows, has said that, if elected, he will recommend certain changes both in the amendment itself and in the enforcement act, but he has also emphatically declared that he will, to the last degree, carry out the platform plank and will honestly endeavor to enforce the eighteenth amendment. In every State, there are candidates for seats in Congress, who are in accord with Gov. Smith's views, and also candidates who are not in accord with them. In Nebraska, where the candidate for the Senate, Mr. Metcalf, while supporting

Gov. Smith, does not agree with him upon his proposals for the change of policy. Gov. Smith publicly stated that he would not ask the senatorial candidate to change his views simply because of the presidential candidate's personal views on this matter. In our own state, some of the candidates for Congress agree with Gov. Smith on this matter; others, and doubtless the majority, do not agree with him. My position, as a candidate for the Senate, I have at all times made perfectly clear. I stand for the eighteenth amendment and for its honest enforcement. I am supporting Gov.

Smith and doing so sincerely and heartily because of a thorough agreement with him upon the matters which constitute party issues, notably farm relief, water power and utilities control, the preservation of our time honored international policy, particularly with respect to limitation of armaments, and because I consider him a millantly honest man and a big, broad progressive Democrat.

"It is my deliberate judgment that the only changes that will be made in the prohibition policy that the country will get rid of Andrew W. Mellon as the head of the enforcement department, and that corruption will be whipped out of that department and all other departments of the Govern-

TUMULTUOUS WILSON WAS FOR DRY ACT REPEAL

Secretary of War - Time
President Discloses Latter Wrote Wet Plank for 1920 Platform.

WOULD LEGALIZE

However, Atmosphere was Such Draft was Never Submitted, His Confidant Declares.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—President Wilson wrote a light wine and beer plank for the platform of the Democrats in 1920, according to his then secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, in a talk to a Democratic gathering at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, yesterday.

"A few days before the convention," said Tumulty, "President Wilson delivered to a trusted friend a copy of a proposed 'wet' plank and asked him to submit it to the committee of the San Francisco convention. The tentative draft of the plank was as follows:

"We recognize that the American saloon is opposed to all social, moral and economic order, and we declare ourselves to its absolute elimination by the passage of such laws as will finally and effectively exterminate it. But we favor the repeal of the Volstead act and the substitution for it of a law permitting the manufacture of light wine and beer."

Plank Never Considered.

"Identically the trusted friend who had this in charge felt the atmosphere of the convention was unfavorable and so the President's plank, prepared by himself, was not even given a hearing before the committee on Resolutions," said Tumulty.

"Time and again when we discussed the Volstead act, President Wilson would say: 'The wrong way of doing the right thing. You cannot regulate the morals and habits of a great cosmopolitan people by passing unreasonable restrictions upon their liberty and freedom. All such attempts can only end in failure and disappointment. In the final analysis, in these matters that seek to regulate personal habits and customs, public opinion is the great regulator.'"

"There could be no more appropriate setting than here, in the birthplace of the nation to make a plea for the preservation of those venerable human rights proclaimed in the declaration of independence. There could be no better occasion to any word on behalf of progressive liberal government than the present gathering, in which are so many important citizens of this city and Commonwealth who have put aside, for the time being, their party affiliations to promote the candidacy of the great progressive liberal Governor of New York for the presidency."

Convictions Were Deep.

"So keenly did Woodrow Wilson feel about this matter that, though away and sick, with the date of the San Francisco convention approaching, he considered it the duty of his party to speak out frankly and courageously on the subject."

"I was present when, consulting with Democratic leaders, he took advantage of every opportunity to speak before the convention and to make his convictions about the vital matter that it was his duty to speak out on the subject of the repeal of that act which would have the effect of making the manufacture and sale of light wine, or at least a modification of the Volstead act changing the alcoholic content of beer."

Graf Zeppelin Was Never In Danger, Captain Says

Passengers and Crew Not in Peril Despite Damage of Fin, Declares Dirigible's Second in Command.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—How the crippled German dirigible, Graf Zeppelin, played hide and seek with the weather 2000 miles at sea, with its own and the passengers' safety at stake, was disclosed yesterday in Capt. Ernest A. Lehmann's account of the airship's 6500-mile voyage across the Atlantic. The first officer of the ship told his story en route from Lakehurst to New York to reporters on the special train provided by the Mayor's committee for the reception of distinguished guests.

"The passengers and crews were never in danger of their lives," he insisted when asked whether the Graf Zeppelin had not been in grave straits when her port stabilizer fin was ripped open during a squall in mid-Atlantic Saturday morning.

"There was no risk as long as we kept out of bad weather areas and further violent squalls," he added.

If the airship, by dodging about in the zigzag course she followed after the mishap, had still been unable to dodge conditions of the sort that originally got her in trouble, Capt. Lehmann said her tail might have suffered enough damage to render her helpless. This would have left her at the mercy of the elements and necessitated summoning surface craft to save her passengers and crew.

"We would have been bad," he said.

"Another reason we avoided rough weather as much as possible was that the damaged stabilizer made the ship less maneuverable and would have made the airship very uncomfortable in turbulent air. It would have been bad for all of us, but not necessarily dangerous."

Capt. Lehmann explained "misfortune to the huge liner resulted from a terrific sudden blimp." He said the violent manipulations of the elevators by a helmsman of little experience contributed to the mishap, but insisted that even the combination of these two things would not have ripped away the tail, if there had not been an undetected weak spot in the fabric covering.

"The squall threw the ship about so violently and at such an angle," he said, "that the mainmast was buried off the tables in the passenger saloon and dished out to his, but he righted afterward in normal fashion. As a matter of fact there was nothing in the ship's behavior to indicate damaged controls and it was only because we knew there was a possibility of damage from so violent a bump that the mishap was considered at once. An investigation was made in every part of the ship as a matter of ordinary precaution and it was then we found the crippled fin."

How Damage Was Repaired.

He told how Knut Ecker, son of the Graf Zeppelin's skipper, and three other members of the crew, Bourie, Ludwig and Saint, climbed from the body of the ship out into the metal frame work of the stabilizer and secured the loose pieces of fabric that were left. The elevator controls also were freed of shredded cloth that threatened to jam them. When this had been done, a dozen expensive blankets were taken from the cabins to walk the aperture, opening from the body of the dirigible into the port fin, to keep out the wind and prevent damage to the buoyant balloons of hydrogen.

"The misfortune we had was disappointing," Lehmann said, "but it proved that almost any repair can be made to an airship while in flight. That lesson alone makes the experience worth while. In our opinion this flight has proved the reliability and safety of airship travel, for we were able to come on, even in a disabled condition and in spite of bad weather conditions. We also were able to make efficient repairs under very unfavorable circumstances."

Eckener's Message to Coolidge.
Dr. Hugo Eckener, conserving his strength for the speeches and interviews he knew were inevitable in New York, asked to be excused from the press conference, but contributed a message which he was just sending out to President Coolidge and one which he asked the press to give to the American people.

Ernest Brandenburg, Undersecretary of the German Ministry of Transportation in charge of aviation, said he would return to Germany aboard the Graf Zeppelin. He would take three-fourths of the passengers who came over on her. His trip was made, he said, to study the possibilities of dirigibles for regular trans-Atlantic travel and a study of the present flight will be made in connection with plans now under consideration in Germany for the establishment of regular trans-oceanic air transportation.

He expects to confer on this subject in Washington with Edward Warner and William P. MacCracken Jr., Assistant Secretaries of the Navy and Commerce departments, respectively.

Flight "Most Agreeable."
Count Brandenstein-Zepplin said the entire flight had been "most agreeable" and his only remark was that his illustrious father-in-law could not have lived to share with him "the glorious privilege of seeing your country and its great cities from the air."

It is the count's first visit, and he could not find words to describe the impression made upon him by the bedlam of noise with which the expedition city and harbor welcomed the latest and the greatest of the Zeppelins.

"For myself as chairman of the board of control of the Zeppelin," Count Brandenstein-Zepplin said, "and for the others who were with me, I cannot say too much in praise of the way the Graf Zeppelin was received and handled at Lakehurst. I slept last night in my cabin on the ship and I have never witnessed an airship than was given to our vessel when the wind died down in the middle of the night and she was 'walked' into the hangar. Even in Germany we do not do so well."

cern every friend of prohibition and law enforcement.

"Party lines have been drawn in the present election, not by the friends of prohibition but by its foes. The fact does not alter the nonpartisan character of our actions. We have, and will, oppose all parties and every candidate for office which would destroy or weaken the eighteenth amendment."

"We urge, particularly, that the preachers from their pulpits shall appeal to their congregations that to vote is the elemental obligation of good citizenship."

"We urge, finally, that both preacher and people face squarely the added responsibility that is upon them in this election when the future of prohibition is clearly committed to their hands."

"We address this call to the members of the churches. Prohibition was their victory. By them it must be defended and retained."

AMUNDSEN MEMORIAL DAY
Norway to Observe Anniversary of Discovery of South Pole.

OSLO, Norway, Oct. 17.—The anniversary of the discovery of the South Pole by Roald Amundsen in 1911 will be celebrated, Dec. 14 by the Norwegian Government as a memorial day for the explorer. The day was chosen in an effort to bring relief to the expedition of Gen. Nobile.

Beside the extensive observation in Norway, Norwegians all over the world will be informed of their Government's decision so they may arrange commemorations.

As to the game itself, they said it was quite different from English football. The editors seemed to have been a bit bewildered by the play.

Party Entertained at Luncheon by Chamber of Commerce and Advertising Club at Hotel.

The 14 English journalists who are touring the United States for two months as guests of the Carnegie Foundation for the Promotion of Peace were reluctant to appraise St. Louis after their first whirling glimpse of the city yesterday afternoon, preferring to wait until the last of their three-day stay. Nevertheless, they got many impressions from a visit to the Liggett & Myers tobacco plant, the Missouri Botanical Gardens, Washington University, Forest Park and Jefferson Memorial.

Of one accord, they remarked that Lindell boulevard, viewed from the administration building of Washington University, undoubtedly was one of the world's stateliest avenues. They were absorbed by the world-wide aspect of the Lindbergh collection in Jefferson Memorial. They thought the residential section as they saw it from Apt Hill identified the city as having beauty.

The editors were told within two minutes that the switch tracks at the Liggett & Myers plant were "the longest private switch tracks in the world," and chuckled, in commenting on Chicago, had remarked that every minute something was "the biggest."

"Every time I saw a freight train," Bennett observed, "I expected to be told that it was the longest freight train in the world."

Pleased With Washington U.
They liked the Washington University campus, remarking that the chapel was almost identical, inside and out, with King's College chapel at Cambridge. They noted the similarity between the study hall in the law building and a hall at Oxford.

"It is not one of the largest universities of the country," they intimated. They were told that its medical school was considered as leading the country.

They were not markedly impressed with the zoo of which St. Louisans are proud.

"We do it much in the same way at home," William Clarke, Dublin correspondent of the Belfast Chronicle, remarked. "Our bear pits at Belfast are on the same principle. Moreover, our zoo is supported by voluntary subscriptions."

The visitors thought the Catholic Cathedral on Lindell boulevard impressively impressive. They gave close ear to G. H. Pring, horticulturist at Shaw's Garden, when Pring told them that a Sheffield Englishman, by an outright gift of his entire fortune, approaching $2,000,000, had made possible the establishment in Middle United States of an institution comparable to the famous English garden of England which Shaw so much admired. The editors showed surprise when Pring told them that St. Louis now possessed in some 35,000 orchid plants the largest and finest orchid collection in the world. They gave the statement credence when they learned that Pring had come from their own Kew Gardens in London, the largest botanical garden in the world.

Young Women Ate Noticed.
The party remarked on the absence of flowers in Forest Park and on the lawns of the residential section adjoining the park. The editors noted the excellent looks and modish dress of St. Louis young women. They asked what sports St. Louisans engaged in and regretted that cricket had not taken hold. They had seen the Navy-Notre Dame football game in Chicago last Saturday. What impressed them most, they said, was the size of the crowd, 122,000 persons.

"We have as many as 100,000 at our cup soccer finals," one remarked, "but I am quite sure never so large a crowd as that."

As to the game itself, they said it was quite different from English football. The editors seemed to have been a bit bewildered by the play.

Preceding their drive, the visitors were guests of the Chamber of Commerce and the Advertising Club at luncheon in the American Annex.

Harold M. Babby, chairman of board of the Chamber, and George S. Johns, editor of the editorial page of the Post-Dispatch, preceded them.

First Unit of New Structure to Be Ready by Next September—Bids Will Be Asked for at Once.

The Board of Education, meeting last night, approved plans for erection of a $3,250,000 vocational high school on the site of old Central High School at Grand boulevard and Windsor place, and elected Arthur A. Blumeyer president of the board.

The new school will consist of six attached units five stories high, housing 4000 vocational day students and 8000 night school students. It will be twice as large as the Beaumont and Roosevelt schools, the latest of their kind in St. Louis.

Plans for the vocational building have been completed by R. M. Milligan, public school building commissioner, and bids will be sought immediately, in the hope of starting work within two months and having the structure ready by next September.

Unit for Central Students.
The first unit, fronting on Grand boulevard, will house temporarily the students of old Central High School, who have been attending other schools since the tornado wrecked the Grand avenue building, which now is being razed. Later it is planned to erect a new Central High farther west.

Additional ground has been acquired for the vocational school and the site will extend to the Odeon on the north and Bell avenue on the south and from Grand boulevard east to Channing avenue, excepting some lots east of the old Central building.

The first unit, facing Grand, from the Odeon to Bell avenue, will include the entrance lobby, library and reading rooms, 59 classrooms, four teachers' rooms and four laboratory units. The cost of this unit—called the academic unit—will be $700,000.

The other units will house an auditorium, seating 4000 and having a stage large enough to hold 1000 persons; a gymnasium, departments of arts and vocations, laboratories and shops, swimming pool, drafting rooms, domestic science kitchens, sewing rooms and art study rooms. Roofs of three units will be tiled and fenced with wire netting and will be used as recreation areas.

To Have Gothic Exterior.
The exterior will present a Gothic facade. Reinforced concrete and steel will be used in the structure. It will be the largest vocational school in the world, the board announced.

Blumeyer, the new head of the Board of Education, is president of the Industrial Loan Co. and the Industrial Savings Trust Co. He was presented with a large basket of flowers by teachers. He succeeds Ben Weidle as president. Henry Heier, an undertaker, succeeds Blumeyer as vice president.

GOV. SMITH TO SPEAK
IN NEW YORK NOV. 3

Tentative Itinerary for Final Two Weeks of Campaign Include Boston and Philadelphia.

SEDALIA, Mo., Oct. 17.—A tentative speaking itinerary for Gov. Smith for the final two weeks of the campaign, it was indicated here today, calls for addresses in Boston and Philadelphia next week, and Baltimore, Newark, Brooklyn and New York the final week.

The itinerary, subject to change, would take the Democratic presidential nominee to Boston next Wednesday or Thursday after a two or three day layover in Albany at the end of the present tour, and to Philadelphia the following Saturday night.

The final week's tentative program calls for speeches in Baltimore, Oct. 28; Newark, Oct. 31; Brooklyn, Nov. 2, and New York, Nov. 3.

Responses to their welcome were given by Ralph D. Blumeyer, president of the Institute of Journalists and editor of the London Daily Express, to whom was presented a replica of the St. Louis Lindbergh medal; Alan Pitt Robbins of the London Times; William Clarke of the Belfast Chronicle; P. B. Roberts of the Scotsman, and W. J. T. Collins, editor of the South Wales Argus.

The journalists are again being taken about the city today.

SMITH DOUBTS HOOVER
SPEECH ANSWERED HIM

Can't Believe Opponent Read Tariff Speech Before
Boston Address.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
ABOARD GOV. SMITH'S SPECIAL TRAIN, EN ROUTE TO CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—At a press conference on the train this morning, Gov. Smith said his respect to the tariff speech delivered by his Republican opponent in Boston Monday night, and also indicated that he would have something to say later on the subject of the St. Croix oil contracts. He displayed deep interest in news accounts of the opinion rendered by Attorney General Sargent, holding illegal the contracts between the Government and Harry F. Sinclair for the sale of royalty oil.

Hoover, in his Boston address, mentioned the tariff commission as "a valuable arm of the Government," but added that "the American people will never consent to delegating authority over the tariff to any commission, nonpartisan or bipartisan." Since Gov. Smith, in his speech on tariff at Louisville last Saturday night, had paid considerable attention to the commission and his intentions concerning it, Hoover's statement was generally interpreted as a reply by an allusion to Smith's speech.

The Governor, however, was unwilling to interpret it, because he said it would necessarily follow that Hoover either failed to understand the Louisville speech, or willfully misrepresented it. The Governor was reluctant to accept either of those alternatives. On the other hand, he admitted it was difficult to see what else Hoover could have been driving at.

Only Explanation of Speech.
"The only explanation I can think of is that his speech was written before I made my Louisville speech, and that he didn't have time to correct it," he said. "Then what do you suppose he had in mind when he spoke about delegating the tariff-making power to a commission?" he was asked. "I can't answer that, unless he had an idea when he wrote his speech that I might advance some such proposition. As you very well know, I did nothing of the kind. I distinctly said and reiterated several times that the Tariff Commission should provide the information which would form the basis for scientific tariff-making by Congress. How could a man use plainer language than that? I took the same position taken by Taft 20 years ago, and by Wilson 12 years ago. What did Taft say? He said that even members of Congress do not understand tariff bills. He said, 'It is just so much Chocaw to anyone but an expert.'"

Doubts Hoover Meant to Reply.
Press: So it is hard for you to believe that he was talking about your speech?

Gov. Smith: Yes, I hate to accuse him of deliberate misrepresentation unless I know it to be a fact. Press: But what do you think of the political honesty of making the same position taken by Taft 20 years ago, and by Wilson 12 years ago, and by Hoover recently made by Brazil to Henry Ford for colonization and the exploitation of rubber. Fukuhara has requested grants in various districts of the State, and if he receives the concessions will begin the construction of the first immigrant station at Acara early in November, with the possibility of 10 Japanese families arriving about Dec. 1.

Japanese Seek Brazil Concession.
By the Associated Press.
PARA, Brazil, Oct. 17.—The State of Para has been asked to grant concessions to a Japanese company headed by Hachiro Fukuhara under similar conditions to those governing the concessions recently made by Brazil to Henry Ford for colonization and the exploitation of rubber. Fukuhara has requested grants in various districts of the State, and if he receives the concessions will begin the construction of the first immigrant station at Acara early in November, with the possibility of 10 Japanese families arriving about Dec. 1.

Gov. Smith: I am not going to comment on that. I think it is apparent that he intends to take a certain stand and stick to it regardless of whether the facts prove it right or wrong. Press: Governor, what do you think of your chances of carrying Missouri and the other border states through which you have passed on this trip?

Gov. Smith: I think they are all right. I am satisfied I will carry all of them. Press: Before you came to Missouri the Republicans claimed that, while you might get a warm reception in St. Louis, you would find a different attitude in the rural sections. Were you able to discern any such difference?

Pleased by Sedalia Reception.
Gov. Smith: I don't see how any man could get a warmer reception than I received at Sedalia. I don't see what more they could have done. Press: They tore the roof off and sang "The Sidewalks of New York" for you.

Gov. Smith: Sang it? Well, I hope. They sang it all yesterday afternoon while I was trying to work on my speech, and some fellow right under my window played it on an accordion.

Press: Was he any good?

Gov. Smith: Pretty good, I thought. He hit a sour note here and there, but on the whole I couldn't criticize the performance. Press: You know, this is one of the few sections of the country where accordion playing is still supposed to be on a pretty high plane.

Gov. Smith: Well, I am not a music critic, but I would say this fellow was all right.

ROCKFORD FLYERS
CALL ON NOMINEE

Front Porch Campaign to Be Conducted by Candidate in His Last Week in East.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Herbert Hoover today greeted Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, the two aviators who were forced to land in Greenland during an attempted flight from Rockford, Ill., to Stockholm, Sweden. Later the flyers were received by President Coolidge at the White House.

"I am very glad to have the privilege of greeting you," Hoover said, "of meeting men who have come through a great adventure with great courage and with success. We certainly welcome you to the United States. We are all proud of you and of all the citizens in our country who come from the same blood. It is quite appropriate for you to be here. I deeply appreciate your coming to call on me."

The aviators were accompanied by Mayor Allen of Rockford and Elmer Etes, who found Hassell and Cramer after they were forced down in Greenland and took them to safety.

Indorsed by Jane Addams.
Miss Jane Addams of Chicago also called at the headquarters of the Republican presidential candidate, and was a luncheon guest at the Hoover home.

Earlier in the day Miss Addams visited headquarters of the Republican National Committee, where a statement on her behalf was given out indorsing Hoover. The statement said Hoover more than any one man in America was "qualified to represent the interests of the whole people" in the period of vast economic development upon which the country was entering.

"If big business is increasingly directing the essential policies of our Government," the statement continued, "then it is of great importance that we should be able to depend upon the next President to keep these forces within social control."

"No one whose childhood was spent in a farming community in the Mississippi Valley can fail to realize the deplorable conditions of thousands of farmers throughout this region. Yet every analysis shows the difficulty inheres not only in methods of production but also in the fact that the means for transportation and for marketing are inadequate and inefficient, the latter being quite beyond the farmers' control. Mr. Hoover draws attention to the fact that business aspects of farming are as varied as the processes themselves. Once more his achievements in this field would be grounded upon conference and co-operation, doubtless including board of trade and railroad men as well as farmers."

Disarmament in Prohibition.
"It is to be hoped that Mr. Hoover will retain his traditional training to the point of enforcing the prohibition act without permitting Federal agents to act as gunmen. What the prohibition situation needs first of all is disarmament. We believe Herbert Hoover will apply to it that ability which he often displayed as an engineer when a situation required new processes to replace the old ones no longer capable of controlling conditions."

Hoover is to conduct a "front porch" campaign during the week intervening between his last Eastern trip—that to New York City next Monday—and his departure for his California home to vote on election day.

In that period delegations are expected to call on the Republican presidential nominee at his headquarters here and in his talks to them he will emphasize what he has advanced as the issues of the campaign and the manner in which his party will deal with them, if it obtains a further extension of power.

Between the visits of these delegations Hoover will find time to prepare his last two formal speeches during the campaign, one in the Middle West while he is on the way to Palo Alto, and the other over the radio from his home on the afternoon of Nov. 5.

While the itinerary of the transcontinental trip still is to be approved finally, Hoover probably will leave Washington on Oct. 29 or 30 and make a speech Nov. 1 or 2. A nation-wide radio hookup has been arranged tentatively on Nov. 2, but it is stated that this can be changed to the night of Nov. 1 if the date will fit in better with Hoover's plans.

Press: So it is hard for you to believe that he was talking about your speech?

Gov. Smith: Yes, I hate to accuse him of deliberate misrepresentation unless I know it to be a fact. Press: But what do you think of the political honesty of making the same position taken by Taft 20 years ago, and by Wilson 12 years ago, and by Hoover recently made by Brazil to Henry Ford for colonization and the exploitation of rubber. An Ex-Soldier's View.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

WHAT excuse the Republicans can have for expecting to receive the support of the ex-soldiers is certainly one marvelous mystery. Still they are trying to appeal to the ex-soldiers for votes. Every ex-soldier man should not only vote against the Republican candidate, but he should work actively against the enemies of the ex-soldier.

One need only review the miserable wire-pulling and treacherous robbery of the funds appropriated for the care of the disabled veterans to understand the position of the Republican administration toward the ex-soldier.

More than that, an examination of the treatment accorded the ex-soldier who unfortunately happens to get into the Government civil service will furnish still more convincing proof of their attitude. In the reduction of force, which is mostly only a pretext, the ex-soldier is not the second to be discharged, but absolutely the first to be discharged. There are a couple of executive orders issued by President Coolidge and the late President Harding covering the subject, but I have yet to see one of them effective when a veteran was to be discharged. Moreover, while in the service the veteran is treated with contempt, overworked and held down, regardless of ability. Mistreatment and disrespect for the service of the ex-soldier is tantamount to disrespect and contempt for the flag. No self-respecting patriotic ex-soldier nor any one else should cast a vote for such a party.

I challenge Mr. Savage, ex-national commander of the American Legion, and now director of the Republican Ex-Servicemen's Committee in Illinois to publicly defend his conduct. I know Gov. Smith has more real patriotism in his old shoes than these professional patriotism howlers have in their whole make-up. In his acceptance speech the ex-soldier had a place. Mr. Hoover, true Republican, left minor matters for future consideration. I would wager my right hand Gov. Smith would never disrespect the flag which he reveres nor mistreat the American soldier who went to the front to defend it.

World Series Broadcasting.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

PERMIT me to compliment you on the very fine editorial about the Cardinals which appeared in your paper on Oct. 10. I improve this opportunity to request that something be done about the broadcasting situation. Mr. McNamee is disgusting; he is not only prejudiced, but does not give the play-by-play intelligently. Should a world series be played in St. Louis again, would it be possible to have a St. Louis announcer give us the games?

Let's have some action in the matter. FOR THE CARDS.

Punishment for Speeders.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

RECENT publication of news items in your paper indicated a difference of opinion on the punishment of speeders.

The Safety Council wants them sent to the jail or workhouse. I wonder if this position is correct.

Are not penal institutions intended for thieves, crooks, etc., and not for people who forget and drive too fast?

I hold no brief for the person who speeds. He should be punished, but not incarcerated in jail, unless he is a perpetual offender. I wonder if the Safety Council can show any place in this country where this is done?

The best plan advanced, so far, is the plan whereby the Judge gives them 15 days in the workhouse but suspends the sentence on their written agreement to forego driving for 30 days or more. This is a hardship and punishment, as it deprives them of something to which they were accustomed. They know then that if they break their written agreement and drive, they must serve 10 days in jail and they should.

As for the drunken driver, my theory is to send him to jail where he belongs and from what I have read in your columns, during the past years, the City Judges have done so. But what has happened to these cases on appeal to a higher court? Have not the higher courts freed the drunken driver? Haven't they nullified the work of the city courts? Where is the Safety Council?

Why should they bother and devote their time criticizing the City Judges because they won't send boys and girls to the workhouse for going over 25 miles per hour when the drunken driver who should go to jail and whom they do sentence to jail is freed by this upper court?

Place the blame where it belongs and encourage the City Court for its good work.

JUSTICE FOR ALL.

Why Gov. Smith Should Be Elected

The Post-Dispatch is convinced that the election of Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, of all the presidential candidates in the field, will best serve the interests of the country.

As an independent newspaper, with Democratic principles, we have carefully weighed the qualifications, the records and the conduct in the campaign of the candidates of the two major parties, Mr. Hoover and Gov. Smith, and we have concluded that Gov. Smith stands closer to sound principles of free constitutional government and gives promise of better performance for the public welfare than Mr. Hoover.

We are disappointed in Mr. Hoover. Recognizing his great ability as an engineer and his efficiency as an organizer and a director of organized effort in special tasks, we believe he falls short of the qualifications required in the highest executive office, where these qualities would not come into play, but where a broader view of statesmanship, leadership of both the forces of government and the people, with full comprehension of human relations to government are essential.

Mr. Hoover has had no experience in practical politics or in executive public office. He has never dealt directly with the varied forces of government, in which initiative and decision in determining policies and courage and skill to arouse public opinion and compel legislative action are requisite for success.

Gov. Smith, on the other hand, has had full experience, as Governor of New York, and has an extraordinary record of successful leadership in dealing with governmental forces and in achieving his beneficial purposes, against great obstacles.

Mr. Hoover's conduct as a candidate has been unsatisfactory. He has not demonstrated initiative, decision or leadership. He has been amazingly subservient to party. He has appealed to party spirit, and in these appeals has dealt in buncombe, painting in glowing colors party virtues, party achievements, party promises, and ignoring the glaring failures, scandals and corruptions of the Harding administration, of which he was a part.

His acquiescent silence in the official corruptions of this administration and his effort to gloss the record with indiscriminate praise are evidences of a subservient fidelity to partisan interest and of a lack of courage that do not give promise of aggressively honest leadership in the office of President.

With the exception of prohibition and the tariff, Mr. Hoover's utterances have been vague and evasive. He has not been frank in expressing his own convictions and his own views of solutions of the problems which will confront the government in the next four years. He has put out no definite programs, but has dealt in generalities.

On farm relief, a vital problem on the solution of which prosperity depends, beyond mere promises to help the farmer, he says he will create a Federal farm bureau composed of representative farmers, to be clothed with authority and resources to aid farm co-operatives and assist generally in the solution of the problem. In view of past Republican inaction we cannot see that this means anything substantial for the relief of the distresses of agriculture.

Back of Mr. Hoover's meaningless promise to help the farmers is the hostility of the Republican organization to farm relief and Mr. Coolidge's vetoes of the McNary-Haugen bill, without suggesting a substitute. The Republican organization would be potent in Mr. Hoover's administration, if he is elected, and he is pledged to follow Coolidge policies.

His main reliance for farm relief is on the tariff, which has hitherto proved ineffective.

With regard to the Power Trust, whose menacing activities in attempting to monopolize water power and public utilities, and whose vicious lobby and system of underground propaganda have been exposed, Mr. Hoover says nothing. So far he has only indulged in the promise of a policy of furthering flood control, reclamation, drainage and the use of hydro-electric power.

We hold it to be the duty and the privilege of a candidate for the great office of President to take the people into his confidence and frankly and fully discuss public problems, and definitely let the people know what he has in mind with regard to public issues and what principles and policies he intends to apply to them if elected.

Mr. Hoover has failed in that. He contents himself with cautious utterances, depending upon his party organization to carry him through, and with a pledge to continue the policies of President Coolidge. These are policies of inertia, reaction and negation, in domestic concerns, with complete subservience to special powerful business interests, without a spark of forward leadership or a promise of liberal progress.

On the question of prohibition, which has become big with menace to constitutional government and the public welfare, Mr. Hoover declares himself against the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and for the continuation of what he calls "a great social and economic experiment, noble in motive and far-reaching in purpose," which he says "must be worked out constructively."

If Mr. Hoover is sincere in that statement, we must conclude that he is ignorant of the principles of free constitutional government as founded by the fathers of the country, and blind to the actual conditions in our social and political life which have been caused by Federal prohibition—too ignorant and blind to be entrusted with the handling of that problem or of the government in general.

Assuming his sincerity, Mr. Hoover is wholly lacking in the knowledge of the principles and structure of our constitutional government which led Mr. Taft in his extraordinary analysis of the nature and significance of the eighteenth amendment and his amazingly accurate forecast of its disastrous effects and consequences, to regard it as a deplorable experiment which would undermine the foundations of our constitutional government, and prove to be a "millstone" around the neck of the American people.

Mr. Hoover admitted that "grave abuses have occurred—abuses which must be remedied." What is his remedy? What does he mean by constructive work? He gives no hint of that. He suggests a searching investigation of facts and causes, to correct the evils of crime and disobedience. There is not a proposal of remedy except costlier and more drastic enforcement than the present enforcement of the laws which have caused widespread crime, disobedience and disrespect for law. We have had thorough investigations. We have the facts. The prime cause of the crime and disobedience which Mr. Hoover says should not be "permitted to break down the constitution and laws of the United States" are, as Mr. Taft pointed out, the amendment and the laws themselves.

We can only conclude from Mr. Hoover's statement, without an inkling of any remedy he has in mind, that it is a "glittering generality" designed to capitalize the sentiment of the Prohibitionists for the benefit of his political ambition.

If Mr. Hoover was sincere in his statement about the eighteenth amendment and the drastic prohibition laws, he is unworthy of public confidence.

On the other hand, Gov. Smith's conduct of his campaign is in sharp contrast with that of Mr. Hoover. He has expressed his convictions, with extreme frankness and courage. He has discussed the issues of the contest and the problems of government with extraordinary freedom. He has outlined his own views of these problems, defined his policies, and even the remedies he has in mind in dealing with them.

While pledging himself to conscientious enforcement of the Constitution and laws of the United States, as required by the oath of office, and while committing himself irrevocably against the return of the saloon, he has declared in words that cannot be misunderstood in favor of a sane modification of the Volstead act and in favor of a change in the eighteenth amendment that would permit states that do not want prohibition to reject it and those that want it to retain it.

The Post-Dispatch would be recreant to its principles and convictions, and would repudiate its record as a persistent and consistent opponent of the eighteenth amendment and the tyrannical Volstead act, if it did not support Gov. Smith in this stand. We would have to abandon our oft-repeated conclusion regarding the calamitous effects of Federal prohibition if we did not accept Gov. Smith's conclusion and his pledge to find a better solution.

We know, as he admits, that Gov. Smith himself cannot change either the eighteenth amendment or the Volstead act. But, in the event of his election, we shall have at the head of the Government a courageous and vigorous advocate of a change, who will tell the people the truth about the unsound nature and direful effects of Federal prohibition as it now exists.

We know the difficulties of accomplishing a change. But we realize the necessity of making a start towards salutary change if ever anything in that direction is to be accomplished. That is what Gov. Smith will do.

Gov. Smith's election would effect a radical change in the political situation with respect to Federal prohibition. As a popular mandate in favor of change, it would break the dictatorial power of the Anti-Saloon League over Congress. It would free members of Congress to vote their convictions, and would open the way to free and frank discussion, and thus to a sound ultimate judgment.

We believe this to be an imperative necessity in dealing with the problem. We cannot conceive of a voter, opposing as we do Federal prohibition, and agreeing with Gov. Smith and his conclusions, failing to see the importance of the approval of this step by ballot.

The election of Mr. Hoover, on the contrary, will strengthen the cause of Federal prohibition, clinch again the dictatorship of the Anti-Saloon League, and prolong the whole vicious system and its disastrous consequences.

Gov. Smith is no less frank and courageous in stating his own proposals for the relief of agriculture. He accepts the principle of the McNary-Haugen bill for the control of the exportable surplus of farm products and he will accept the machinery for this control approved by experts and Congress.

It is agreed by all who have given the subject any thought that some plan for putting agriculture on an equality with other industries, and relieving it from distresses which not only ruin the farmer but menace the prosperity of the whole country must be found. The McNary-Haugen bill, with the equalization fee, has been approved by the best farm experts, by leading economic experts, and by more than two-thirds of the Senate and nearly two-thirds of the House.

Although Gov. Smith did not say he would accept the equalization fee, it is assumed that if his commission of experts and Congress find it sound, constitutionally and otherwise, and no better method can be found, he will accept it. Senator Norris commends his open mind and his proposal to seek a better method.

The Post-Dispatch would not approve an unconstitutional or manifestly impractical or unjust method of controlling the exportable surplus, and we do not believe that Gov. Smith would. We reserve judgment with regard to the equalization fee or any other method of controlling the exportable surplus, for consideration when a bill for farm relief has been submitted to Congress.

We admit that any solution of the problem of Government aid would be an experiment. But the experiment must be tried.

The great protected industries have followed practically the plan proposed for agriculture. Maintaining the domestic prices of their products by a protective tariff, they have dumped their surplus products abroad. Of course, the difficulties of accomplishing this end with farm products are greater, but a way may be found.

Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of the General Electric Co., a business man of universally recognized sound judgment and ability, endorsing Gov. Smith's proposal, remarked aptly that the Dawes plan, in the devising of which he was a principal factor, was an experiment, but proved successful. Mr. Young said that the farmers are entitled to an equality of economic opportunity and must be given it, "if the prosperity of this country is to continue." He adds this pertinent and pregnant remark:

Don't let us be misled by this talk of unsound economics every time we consider a remedy for the farmer. If 30 per cent of our people, the backbone of our country in intelligence and character, are unprosperous, while the rest are prosperous, we have unsound economics already.

The difference between Mr. Hoover and Gov. Smith

"TAMMANY!"

—From the New York Times

is that, agreeing that there must be a cure for the ills of agriculture, Gov. Smith will try a cure recommended by experts, while Mr. Hoover is either afraid to pledge himself to the remedy approved by experts or is groping in the dark.

On the question of water power, Gov. Smith condemns unqualifiedly the vicious activities of the power combine to obtain through its lobby and widespread system of underground propaganda, a monopoly of water power and of public utilities. He pledges himself to a definite conservation policy, for the benefit of the whole people, through Government ownership and control—control of production and of contractual rights. Whatever else may be necessary to curb the monopoly of hydro-electric power, which would exploit every consumer of electricity, Gov. Smith assures the public that he will at least do all in his power to take the first necessary step to accomplish this end. His pledge has a solid background in his record as Governor of New York.

Gov. Smith has made an issue of the tariff. He has declared himself in favor of a scientific tariff based upon facts and recommendations submitted to Congress by a competent nonpartisan commission. Congress must, of course, adopt any bill, but Gov. Smith wants specific schedules, framed to meet conditions, and is against the usual log-rolling general tariff bill in which special interests write schedules in their own favor. He favors sufficient protection for legitimate interests, free of graft for the favored few.

The present campaign has brought to the front in their most abhorrent phases the activities of those who have been working for intolerance and proscription in politics on account of religion. Gov. Smith's candidacy revived the issue of religious intolerance on account of his faith and the abominable attacks directed against him. This issue strikes at the foundation of free constitutional government established in this country. It strikes at the guarantees of religious freedom, separation of church and state, and that there shall be no religious test for public office.

Mr. Hoover, personally, has repudiated the issue of religious intolerance. But he and his party are beneficiaries of it. Republican demagogues and members of Republican organizations are appealing to religious prejudice. The party inevitably bears responsibility for this, and Mr. Hoover, as the party candidate, shares that responsibility.

It is a contemptible issue. Religion should have nothing to do with deciding a vote for or against Gov. Smith or any candidate. The supreme test of fitness for office is the merit, the record, the character and capacity of a candidate.

It is on this supreme test of fitness that the Post-Dispatch supports Gov. Smith for the presidency.

Rising from humble origin, without educational advantage, he has been tried in the school of adversity. He has been tried and trained in politics and in the highest office of the greatest State in the Union. His record as Governor of New York is open to all. It is a record of progressive, constructive leadership, of extraordinary achievement in the reorganizing of government on lines of economy and efficiency, and accomplishing legislation for the benefit of the people.

Republican leaders, distinguished not only in New York, but in the nation, such as Charles E. Hughes, Elihu Root, Nicholas Murray Butler and others have given him unstinted praise for extraordinary ability, for integrity and for success in achieving beneficial progress, practically without a parallel, in the governorship of New York. If there had been a taint of dishonesty, or of control by corrupt forces, or the lack of quality as a leader and Governor, these men would not have endorsed the man and his record.

Wholly apart from the programs and proposals looking to material improvement, there is something more to be considered. There is need for prudent, progressive leadership which will take into account the interests of the whole people—the common as well as the uncommon man, the poor as well as the rich.

Having suffered under Republican lease of power from scandalous corruption under Harding, inertia and reaction under Coolidge, we need a term of wise liberalism in Washington. We need an opportunity for that liberalism which will meet the aspirations of the people and will put us in touch with the best liberal thought of the world.

We believe Gov. Smith would supply that need.

He has political genius developed to the highest degree. He has the gift of leadership, the courage to propose and initiate beneficial measures, the power to interest the people in the measures he proposes, and to get the things he wants done, done against the greatest obstacles.

He has a comprehension of the relations between citizens and the Government and of the obligation of Government to the people.

He has a deep sympathy with the unprivileged masses and their problems and struggles.

We believe that the election of Gov. Smith would not only contribute effectively to the sound settlement of problems of great importance to the country, but that with his special gifts, experience in executive office, and his progressive purposes, he would be a valuable acquisition in the office of Chief Executive.

We believe that his election would contribute to the restoration of democratic principles upon which our Government was founded and which have been essential factors in the stability of the republic and the progress and prosperity of the American people.

THE BUSY BEE IN THE CAMPAIGN.

From the New York Evening World.

NEW JERSEY'S Department of Agriculture has been taking a census of the State's agricultural industry and finds it extremely profitable. Some 20,250 commercial colonies or swarms of bees are found to have earned a net income in a year of $374 per colony, or a total of $112,250, which represents a net return on the investment of 22 1/2 per cent. This must almost beat the automobile manufacturing industry. No other business can better it, perhaps, except the moonshining of apples.

What is still more remarkable is that these beehive census results have been allowed to go out with no mention of their relation to the Fordney-McCumber tariff, which increased the duty on honey over the Underwood tariff from 10 cents a gallon to 3 cents a pound, amounting to about 26 cents a gallon. Like all the other Fordney-McCumber tariff increases, this must also have been made on behalf of labor and high wages. But as the bees do all the work and never strike for higher wages, the less said about it the fairer we shall be.

We only wish to call to the Republican attention that when the public records are being combed to show what great things the party has done for the farmer, the little bee who improves each shining hour has been overlooked. He does not appear in Senator Curtis' long catalog. How both he and the shining hours were extinguished by the Democratic low tariff and business busy and refulgent under Republican legislation—both facts are passing unnoticed. It is a slight which should be corrected.

BALLADE.

Now heed the tale they bid us hear,
And hark to what they have to tell.
For this is an election year,
When oratory weaves its spell.
If you would vote and do it well,
If you would vote and make it pay,
The vote for Hoover help to swell—
And walking, you've the right of way.

A vote for Smith's a vote for beer.
If you are dry, on that they dwell.
If you are wet, there is some cheer.
That Hoover will the clouds dispel.
A vote for Smith will sound the bell.
Of work for all, and that must stay,
What ruin if the tariff fell!
And walking, you've the right of way.

Al Smith's the man that we must fear.
And his the party we must fear.
The arm will know the mortgage man.
His crops the farmer cannot sell.
And woe to farmer, woe to dell.
If Smith should win election day,
'Tis thus and so spellbinders yell.
And walking, you've the right of way.

L'ENVOI.

Oh, let them talk, they can't compel
To come to pass dire things they say.
Strange woes that lack a parallel—
And walking, you've the right of way.

Sometimes the orator is silent too,
He has nothing to say on that issue,
Sometimes he is silent because he Has too much to say on that issue.

As statistics are available on every possible subject, we are still puzzled by the fact that some people seem to be forced to make up their own as they along.

Or we might say that even if she was baby in the old days, the songs did sound so much that way.

Statistical Note.

If the clubs are the type that will prove the game, some games need a lot of improvement, to judge by the number of clubs carried.

Of course, we are not absolutely sure of the matter, but there are times when we feel that the hunter's shooting of a man is a form of unconscious criticism.

From our careful reading, we judge undue pessimism, at least among the party's forecasters, is the admission that the state is doubtful.

Another optimist, we always figure, the fellow who makes up those budgets showing how a family of almost any number can live comfortably on the most any amount.

Imaginary Conversations.

First Friend: Why didn't you write?
Second Ditto: They did not have post cards.

Six, too, is that otherwise delightful when the game is not a success unless calls for continued and nerve-wracking screaming.

When you think of all the benefits of lyrical perfection, it does seem strange people could not think up a better one than just plain "high tariff."

Some of those who would do anything the party had best do nothing.

FABLE.

Three married couples were playing bridge. One of the men won $1 and the money.

And if this week's victory proves that football team is the best in years, what rise to inquire, did last week's defeat prove anything?

Another proof of something or other the fact that you never see an abashed bill board.

DECLARES PENDERGAST WANTS TO RULE STATE

Jesse W. Barrett Foresees Machine Control if Democrats Win in Missouri.

A Democratic victory in Missouri will place the State in the hands of a Democratic political machine now confined in its activities to Kansas City, former Attorney-General Jesse W. Barrett declared last night in a speech before a Twenty-third Ward meeting at Paradise Hall, Sarah street and Hodiamont tracks.
"Pendergast, the Kansas City boss, and his partner, Ross, are now in control of Kansas City and doing the lion's share of its paving," he said. "They are ready and willing to take over the profitable business of building Missouri's new highways. Furthermore, if the Pendergast machine gets control of the police and election boards in Kansas City its position there will be impreachable."

An extraordinary mind is demanded in the presidency, B. O. Mahaffey said in a talk before the Women's Branch, Engineers' Hoover-for-President Club, at a tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. G.
Proetz, 747 Hanley road, University
City, yesterday afternoon.

Cites Hoover's Qualifications.
"I'm not saying that Gov. Smith has a small mind, or that he could not have been a good president back in Cleveland's time," Mahaffey said. "But I find even conservative engineers using superlatives as to the size of Herbert Hoover. Some tell us that we would have to go back two generations to find an other man so well fitted for the presidency in this day. That makes us think of Lincoln and the emancipation of the slaves, and it is not unreasonable to think of the abolition of poverty as a comparable blessing to mankind."

He compared the respective capabilities of Smith and Hoover to those of a train conductor, looking after the passengers' comfort, and the engineer of the same train, with responsibility for schedule and safety.

"Extension of credit by installment buying was cited by Mahaffey as making the national safety dependent on continuance of prosperity.
"Would our people continue to expect prosperity," he asked, "if they knew that our Government was going to discharge its successful leaders of the past seven years and take on an untrained crew?"

Women Speak for Hoover.
Miss Adela Niesen and Miss Maude L. Nirdlinger also spoke.
Miss Niesen said she was "a staunch Catholic, and as such, a true American, and must vote for the man who upholds the Constitution." She described a visit at the Hoover home and told of Mrs. Hoover's gracious personality and of Hoo-ver's "lovely face, with nice eyes and the kindest mouth and a chin the politicians better beware of."
She spoke of Hoover's wide international experience, and said Gov.
Smith's vision was bounded by the harbor and skyline of New York.
Miss Nirdlinger discussed the power of the woman voter.

Mrs. Gertrude N. Pattangall, wife of a former Governor of Maine, who is stumping the central western states in the interests of the Republican National ticket was a visitor in St. Louis yesterday, departing last night for Oklahoma to resume her speaking tour.

An appeal to women to support Hoover because his election means continued prosperity in the home, was made last night by Mrs.
Dorothy Hollenbeck Farley, vice chairman of the Republican State Committee, in an address over radio station KMOX.

Former Gov. Fred Zimmerman of Wisconsin will address a mass meeting of Republicans tomorrow night at Jeffia Hall, Jefferson and Lafayette avenues.

Now Cleaning Plant, Damaged
by Boiler Blast.

Fire which following the explosion of a boiler in a one-story cleaning plant behind a saloon at 9025 South Broadway, St. Louis County, early today, caused about $10,000 damage mostly to machinery used in cleaning and dyeing.

Elmer Getchman, the proprietor, said he purchased the saloon three years ago from "Jellyroll" Hogan, Democratic politician, and set up the cleaning plant two months ago.

He told authorities the explosion occurred shortly after an employe, Henry Miller, started a fire under the boiler, but the exact cause of the explosion was not determined.
The fire did slight damage to the saloon building.

BURGLAR-EX-CONVICT CAPTURED IN SALOON

City Fireman Finds Him Ransacking Place at 301 South Newstead.

Robert Rothmann, a city fireman at Engine Co. No. 50, Newstead and Duncan avenues, last night noticed a side door open at the saloon of Adam Gogas, 301 South Newstead avenue, and found a man ransacking the place. Rothmann held the man for police.

The prisoner said he was Tyler Hill, released from Eddyville (Ky.) penitentiary, Oct. 4, after serving two years for bootlegging. He denied being a burglar, although $9.76 found in his pockets corresponded with the amount taken from the cash register. He also had a file in his pocket. Bars on a rear window of the saloon had been filed off.

A man who said he was Dave Katers, an Indian, living on Enright avenue, was captured by two Negroes last night, after a chase of several blocks, and was identified as the man who held up Mrs. Lucile Patton, Negro, 4450 Lucky street, near Page boulevard and Pendleton avenue, and stole $9.22. He had $8.61 when arrested.

Two men obtained $20 in a hold-up at a filling station at 2918 Page boulevard, after getting the attendant, Robert Brown, to fill a gasoline can on a pretext that their car had run out of gasoline a block from the station.

POLICE HUNT FOR MISSING GIRL

Companion Says May Cromwell of Marion, O., Has Disappeared.

Searching for Loretta May Cromwell, 16-year-old hitch-hiker from Marion, O., who disappeared Sunday afternoon in the company of two men near Ogden and Ridge avenues, county authorities yesterday found a small black suitcase and a small box the girl had carried, in a vacant lot near Hobart and Ogden avenues.

The attempt to find Loretta Cromwell began after Sarah Reed, 14 years old, who was accompanying Loretta on a hike from Marion, O., to Amariyllis, Tex., reported her companion missing. She and Loretta were waiting for a bus at Evergreen and Easton avenues, she said, Sunday afternoon when two young men came up and began to talk to them. The young men, on learning they were hitch-hikers, said they would find sleeping quarters for them for the night. When the four reached a vacant house, Sarah related, the men told her to walk on ahead and disappeared in the direction of the house with Loretta. After that, she said, she did not see either the men or her companion.

THE service obligation of the Ford Motor Company and its dealer organization is now growing at the rate of 5000 cars a day. It is to these new car owners that this message is addressed.

The new Ford is a remarkably fine car for one that costs so little. It is simple in design, constructed of the finest materials, and built to unusually close measurements.

These are the reasons it performs so wonderfully. These are also the reasons its service requirements are so few and the up-keep cost so low.

When you receive your new car, the dealer will explain the simple little things that should be attended to at regular intervals to insure the best performance. He will also tell you something of his own facilities for doing this work promptly and at small cost.

With the purchase of your car, you are entitled to Free Inspection Service by your dealer at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. This service is due you and we urge you to take full advantage of it. Proper care during this breaking-in period means a great deal to the life of your car.

Included in the Free Inspection Service is a check-up of the battery, the generator charging rate, the distributor, the carburetor adjustment, lights, brakes, shock absorbers, tire inflation and steering gear. The engine oil is also changed and chassis lubricated.

No charge whatever is made for labor or materials incidental to this inspection service, except where repairs are necessary because of accident, neglect, or misuse.

The labor of changing the engine oil and lubricating the chassis is also free, although a charge is made for the new oil.

We believe that when you see the good effects of this inspection you will continue to have it done regularly throughout the life of your car.

You will find the Ford dealer very helpful in keeping your car in good running order for many thousands of miles at a minimum of trouble and expense.

He operates under close factory supervision and has been specially trained and equipped to do this work promptly, thoroughly and economically.

UPHOLDS POLICE PENSION PLAN AS SOUND PROPOSAL

President Orrick Replies to Attack on Proposition No. 2 by City Board of Estimate.

SAYS $550,000 FUND IS NOW AVAILABLE

Thinks Body Is Opposed to Any Sort of Adequate System — Cites Previous Fight.

President Orrick of the Police Board yesterday took issue with a statement Monday by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment asking the public to vote against Proposition No. 2, providing pensions for St. Louis police. The Board of Estimate attacked the proposal as financially unsound and bound to work hardship either on the pensioners or the taxpayers. Declaring that the statement did not present a true picture of the situation, President Orrick pointed out that under a constitutional amendment adopted by Missouri voters in 1926, authority was given for police pensions, and a bill for pensions, introduced in the last Legislature, was passed by the House and was reported favorably by the Senate Committee on Municipal Corporations, but did not come to a vote in the Senate owing to adjournment.

Tells of Previous Fight. "The Board of Estimate and Apportionment, through its legislative agent, fought this bill bitterly at every stage," Orrick said, "but did not offer any substitute therefor, and the Board of Police Commissioners believed then, and still believes, that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment is opposed to any legislation authorizing adequate police pensions."

The income provided for the pension fund under Proposition No. 2 would be sufficient to carry out the provisions of the proposed law for some years to come and any necessary amendments could be made "in due time and in orderly manner," President Orrick added. The St. Louis Police Department now has on hand a fund amounting to nearly $550,000 which under the terms of Proposition No. 2 will be turned over to the pension fund created thereby, thus starting the new system with a ready-made reserve. "A fact which seems to have been overlooked by the Board of Estimate," Orrick continued.

To Cost $150,000 a Year. "Proposition No. 2," President Orrick concluded, "provides that the cost to the city shall be only $150,000 a year and it would be difficult to formulate any pension system which would cost the city less than this. In justice to the members of the Police Department and their families, it is essential that some pension system be put into effect immediately, and Proposition No. 2 should appeal to all persons who are not absolutely opposed to police pensions, as it will provide a police pension system without delay and without unreasonable cost to the city." The Board of Estimate comprises Mayor Miller, Comptroller Nolte and President Neun of the Board of Aldermen. Chief of Police Gerk, in a speech at the Town Club before an organization of women working for Proposition No. 2, denounced the Board of Estimate's attack on the proposition as "unfair and last-minute propaganda."

WARRENTON TRAFFIC BRIDGE TO BE COMPLETED NOV. 1

$22,000 Structure to Replace Wooden Span Is of Concrete Construction.

WARRENTON, Mo., Oct. 17.—The new highway bridge across the Wabash Railroad at Warrenton is nearing completion, and will be ready for traffic Nov. 1. It will cost approximately $22,000, according to J. C. Burgess, a State project engineer.

The new structure will eliminate the present detour, incurred a short distance south of the junction of Highway 40 and 47, and the present wooden bridge which spans the tracks. Highway 47 will then be made an all-weather road between the junction and Hopewell, Mo. An improved straight route through Warrenton will be available.

The completed route will be approached by gravel runways. The bridge is a three-span, reinforced concrete structure, 126 feet long. It has a 20-foot roadway for traffic and five-foot sidewalks for pedestrians. J. P. Sparks & Co. are the contractors.

Charlie Chaplin Picks Chicago Girl. HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 17.—A Chicago girl who was educated in a convent and never has appeared in a motion picture has been chosen by Charles Chaplin as his leading lady in his next comedy. To Virginia Cherril, 20 years old, went the prize of a Chaplin contract after the comedian had studied screen tests of numerous candidates. The two met socially in Hollywood, where Miss Cherril was visiting, with no thought of a film career. Miss Cherril, a blue-eyed blonde, was educated in a convent at Kenosha, Wis., and later attended a finishing school in Chicago.

WOMAN AND FOUR CHILDREN FOUND IN BROKEN-DOWN AUTO

She Tells Police Husband, a Miner, Ordered Her to Leave Home.

A woman and four children sitting patiently in a dilapidated Ford touring car with a West Virginia license at Page boulevard and Hodiament avenue this morning aroused the curiosity of Police Sergeant Olds of the Page boulevard station.

The woman told him she was Mrs. Leola Boden of Kincaid, Ill., and that she had been on the way to the home of a married daughter in Denver after her husband, Daniel Boden, had ordered her out of their home at Kincaid. She and her four children got as far as St. Louis when the automobile broke down.

The family is now at the matron's room at Police Headquarters and Chief Gerk has instructed Capt. Tierney of the Page boulevard station to have the Ford repaired. When that is done a collection will be taken for the purchase of gasoline and food, and the family will be advised to return to Kincaid. Boden, a coal miner, went to Kincaid from West Virginia several weeks ago.

STATE SEEKS DEATH PENALTY FOR MURDER OF GANGSTER

Don Shelton Charged With Slaying at Roadhouse in East St. Louis.

His body was taken in an automobile to a point near French Village and thrown in a ditch beside the road.

Turn Hair Dark With Sage Tea

By JEAN MACON

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grand mother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product for only 75 cents, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

Britt and "Whitey" and they engaged in a heated altercation over the relative merits of "Scarface Al" Capone, the Cicero gang leader, and a St. Louis gangster. Shots were fired and Butler said he saw Shelton standing by the body of Reinhardt with a pistol in his hand. Butler said he saw Shelton and the two Martins take the body away in an automobile and return later without the body.

EX-WIFE SAYS F. X. BUSHMAN OWES HER $60,000 ALIMONY

Motion Picture Actor Appears in Court to Answer Charges; to File Formal Reply.

By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 17.—Francis X. Bushman, motion picture actor, appeared in Circuit Court at Towson today in answer to a petition filed by his first wife, Mrs. Josephine Bushman, alleging he was $60,000 in arrears in payments for alimony and for support of their children.

A conference between Bushman's attorney and Judge C. Gus Grasono who ordered the actor's appearance to show cause why he should not be held in contempt, resulted in agreement for filing of a formal answer at a later date.

The petition was filed by Mrs. Bushman yesterday. Bushman and his first wife were married in Wilmington, Del., in 1902, and were divorced at Towson in 1918. The decree provided for $40,000 alimony and payments of $4,000 annually for maintenance of the children.

WORLD AUTHORITY ON SKIN DISORDERS

Dr. Evard Ehlers

says

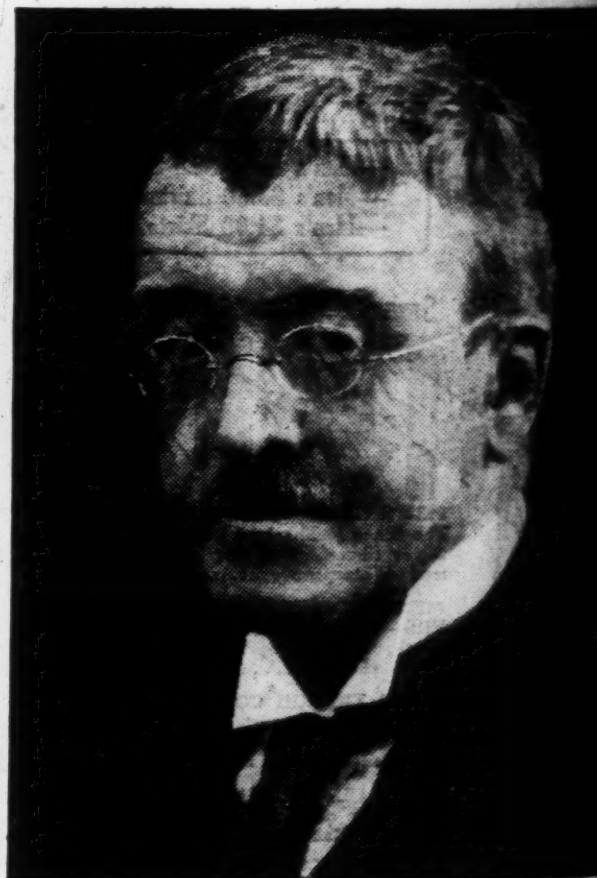

"I invariably prescribe yeast"

Municipal Hospital, Copenhagen, where Dr. Ehlers is chief physician of the dermatological department

"It is many years since my teacher and friend, Dr. L. Brocq of Paris, taught me to use fresh yeast for staphylococcal infections of the skin. Since then I have invariably prescribed yeast in all cases of boils, as well as in rebellious cases of acne. The effect of yeast upon boils is surprising and incontestable. It is often slightly laxative."

Dr. Ehlers

THE most romantic figure in Danish medicine—Dr. Evard Ehlers of Copenhagen.

Hazardous medical research in the tropics has brought him decorations from half the governments of Europe.

Hospitals for children born sick into the world, established by him throughout Denmark, have cut the infant death rate from one especially dread disease to one sixth its former grim total.

Holder of degrees from the Universities of Paris, Strassburg and Copenhagen, what Dr. Ehlers says of the health properties of yeast is drawn from years of experience as a skin specialist of world-wide reputation. Many doctors now agree that unsightly, embarrassing and unpleasant skin eruptions are associated with clogging of the intestinal tube.

"In boils the effect of yeast is incontestable," Dr. Ehlers says, and then advises, "the yeast treatment should be continued for several months, until the elimination of harmful bacteria is complete."

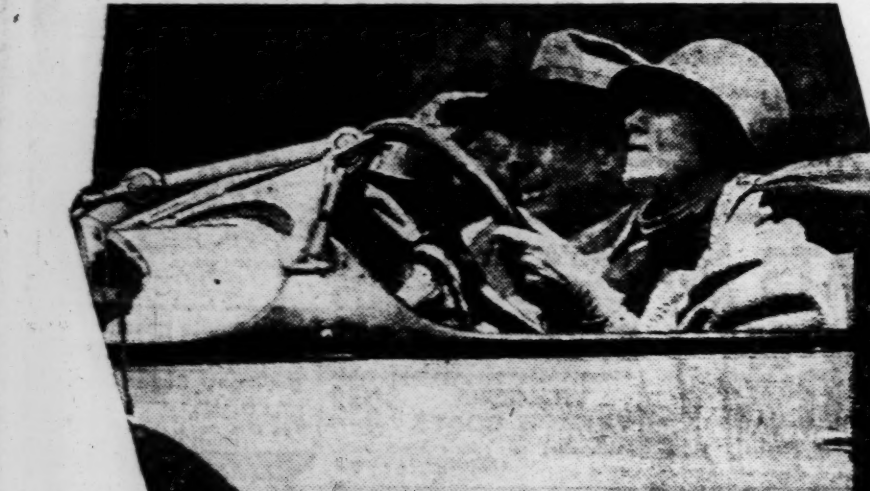

In a recent survey throughout the United States, half the doctors reporting said they prescribed yeast. Fleischmann's Yeast is a food, fresh as any vegetable from your garden. Eat three cakes daily, one cake before or between meals, plain or in water (hot or cold). To get full benefit you must eat it regularly and over a sufficient period of time. At all grocers and many leading cafeterias, lunch counters and soda fountains. Start eating it today.

90 per cent of ills start here... Here is where yeast works

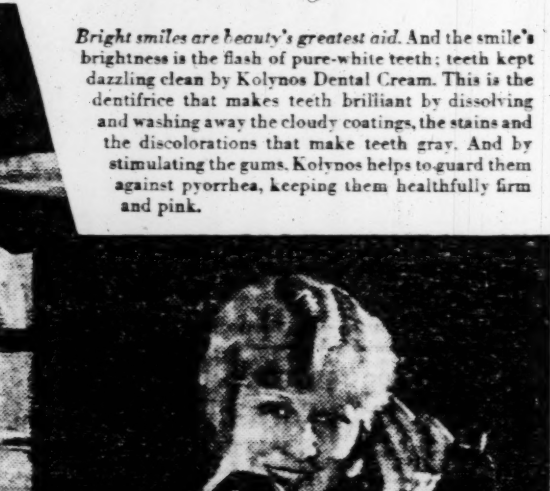

As this picture shows you, the alimentary tract is one continuous tube from throat to colon. Poisons caused by clogged intestinal spread swiftly through your body. By eating Fleischmann's Yeast you can keep this tract clean, active and healthy. You can insure the flawless, healthy complexion which comes only from a clean, active colon.

Like 60 an hour with the windshield down. That's how exhilarated your mouth feels when you brush your teeth with Kolynos, the dentifrice that foams. For Kolynos whips up a flood of keen, tingling bubbles that reach the remotest corners of the mouth, leaving a bracing afterglow that keeps the mouth refreshed for hours.

More fun than a barrel of monkeys! That's how the children feel about brushing their teeth since they discovered Kolynos. They love to make it foam. In the thrill of working up this bubbling foam, they forget that cleaning the teeth is a duty. And the busy bubbles reach all the pits and crevices beyond reach of the toothbrush, cleaning the teeth, stimulating the gums. That's the good that comes from using a dentifrice that provides a game for children.

Bright smiles are beauty's greatest aid. And the smile's brightness is the flash of pure-white teeth; teeth kept dazzling clean by Kolynos Dental Cream. This is the dentifrice that makes teeth brilliant by dissolving and washing away the cloudy coatings, the stains and the discolorations that make teeth gray. And by stimulating the gums, Kolynos helps to guard them against pyorrhea, keeping them healthfully firm and pink.

The tube that lends a double life, that is, double the life of other dental creams. For a tube of Kolynos lasts twice as long. Kolynos, you see, is double strength. So a half-inch is ample for a brushing. That's why Kolynos goes twice as far and saves money for you. In two sizes, 30c and 50c a tube. 167 half-inch brushings in the 50c tube.

SMITH CLUB ANSWERS LUTHERAN APPEAL

German-American League Declares Prohibition Is Leading Issue of Campaign.

In reply to an appeal issued by the Lutheran laymen for support of Herbert Hoover by voters of German descent, the German-American Smith Club for President League today issued a statement characterizing the appeal as misleading, and declaring that prohibition is the leading issue of the presidential campaign.

The appeal for Hoover support as told in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, dealt chiefly with Hoover's record in relief work among the Germans after the war and on Gov. Smith's stand on immigration. The German-American organization's statement, in part, follows:

"Very few German-Americans will heed the appeal of Edmund Seuel, general manager of the Concordia Publishing Co., and four other business men of South St. Louis to vote for Hoover instead of Smith.

"The circular letter which is being mailed to voters is misleading and does not cling to the truth. Germans-Americans throughout Missouri, regardless of religious affiliations, are supporting Smith because of his liberal and progressive views on prohibition and other vital national issues, among them the problem of immigration, which will be probably solved by the next Congress.

"Religious intolerance, not Smith's stand on immigration, is the real reason for this circular letter. It will not, however, fool the thousands of progressive Lutherans who realize that prohibition is the chief campaign issue.

"The newest law to restrict immigration, now held in abeyance, was enacted by a Republican Congress. It is significant that it would annually lessen the quota of German immigrants. For that reason, partially, it has not been enforced and the quotas are therefore based upon the 1890 census instead of the 1920 census as the law provides.

"With the law in effect the annual quota of Germans would be reduced from 50,129 to 24,908. Gov. Smith's stand on immigration is in accordance with justice and equality to the Germans. Before the campaign comes to a close he can be depended to state his exact attitude.

"But the main issue for German-American voters is prohibition, not immigration. We must not lose sight of that fact."

Two Stanzas of "Home, Sweet Home" in Writing of Author Bring $360 in New York. Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Dr. A. S. W. Rosenthal paid $5600 for a Lincoln letter of June 12, 1848, on the prospect of Zachary Taylor's election to the presidency; $1700 for a Lincoln letter of 1856 to Gov. Grimes of Iowa, on the general political situation; and $1900 for a Lincoln letter of Feb. 24, 1863, to Major-General Halleck concerning troop protection for West Virginia, at a sale in the Anderson galleries yesterday of the autograph collections of Dr. Clara Harris of Scarsdale, Miss Beatrice Finney of St. Louis and J. P. Roosa of this city.

Two stanzas from "Home, Sweet Home" in the writing of John Howard Payne, the author of the song, dated March 30, 1851, went to T. F. Madigan for $360. A. J. Scheuer paid $1000 for 29 letters from Theodore Roosevelt to John Burroughs, the naturalist, on "Nature Faking."

A Roosevelt letter to John Burroughs, on the World War, written Aug. 14, 1918, was sold to Gabriel Wells for $370. A letter from Washington to Madison, Dec. 1, 1788, before Washington's election as President, brought $800 from an unnamed buyer. Woodrow Wilson's typed manuscript of 18 pages on "The Tariff Make-Believe" dated 1908, with 40 words in Wilson's writing, went to Wells for $490. The sale of 201 pieces brought $17,598.

OWNERS OF THREE-STORY STILL AT CANTON, ILL., SOUGHT

Officers Discover Whisky Making Plant to Which Five 2000-Gallon Vats Fed Mash.

CANTON, Ill., Oct. 17.—County authorities are trying to follow clues to the ownership of what is said to be the largest and most elaborate liquor distilling plant ever found in this section, which was discovered Monday afternoon. The still was in charge of three men, but only one, who gave his name as James Peterson of Kansas City, was captured. The still was located in an old slaughter house near Canton, and it was so large as to almost fill the building. Five 2000-gallon vats fed mash to the still, three stories high. The equipment included a big steam boiler and a pump for mash.

Liquor valued at about $2000 was confiscated. Officers think the still was in operation about three months.

Youthful Pep Comes Back in Middle Age

Phospho-Cod brings back lost vigor and energy to hundreds

Why let old age come on before its time? There's no reason why middle-aged people can't be as active, energetic, and full of pep as young folks.

A fine old prescription, known as Phospho-Cod, does the trick. Its success has been so astounding that Walgreen Drug Stores guarantee it absolutely. They make you this offer: If, in twelve days, Phospho-Cod doesn't double your pep and energy, they will refund what you pay for it.

which help throw off the poisons that weaken the system. And, it's a pleasure to take it, for it has a flavor like rare old wine.

If Too Fat—Reduce!

By Dr. Theodore Beck

In the past ten years science has made great strides in learning the mysteries of human personality.

In the study of the ductless glands, it is asserted that man or woman can be thin or fat, tall or short, ugly or beautiful, dull or brilliant, depending upon the secretions of the ductless glands.

Greatest and surest results have come from clinical experiences with the thyroid glands. Obesity, or overfatness, is often due to the failure of the thyroid gland to function correctly and by adjusting this fault, through the use of a scientific formula, obese persons lose from 5 to 15 pounds in 30 days. Many report reductions of from 40 to 70 pounds, and their joy knows no bounds.

For some years I have been recommending 5-grain Arbolone Tablets to those who wished to reduce. The constantly increasing demand for these tablets, their approval by many physicians and chemists, and the many grateful and thankful letters I receive, indicates that reductions are attained without any harmful results to the users. On the contrary, many report improvement in health, complexion and feelings. By permission, I am publishing a few of the many letters received.

Reduced Weight Quickly—Easily.
EVANSTON, ILL., Mrs. Joseph A. P. Reba Place, writes: "Have taken one box of Arbolone Tablets and lost 10 pounds in one week, and have purchased another box, as I intend to take until I get back to normal, etc." (A later letter reads: "Before taking could not walk upstairs, without being out of breath, could not walk any distance without becoming exhausted. I can now do both without being winded. Am down from 172 to 158 pounds in just two weeks. Thanking you, etc.")

Reduced 12 Pounds in 30 Days.
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, Helen McG. Sheridan Road, writes: "After having taken Arbolone Tablets thirty days, I wish to tell you how pleased I am over results. Have reduced twelve pounds, and have eaten just what I wanted. Will recommend Arbolone to others, etc."

Arbolone Reduced Satisfactorily.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Mrs. M. M. Claridge St., writes: "Have used Arbolone Tablets and have found them wonderful. Have taken boxes and have lost considerable weight, and am still taking them. They take all the puffing feeling away and make you feel fine." (A later letter reads: "I have received great satisfaction from Arbolone Tablets and cannot praise them too highly, as I believe in giving credit, where credit is due, etc.")

Reduced 7 Pounds First Week.
PENN. YAN, N. Y., Mr. Chester M. H. Cornwell St., writes: "Two weeks ago I purchased a box of 5 grain Arbolone Tablets, took them as per directions and the first week reduced seven pounds, and already feel much better. I weighed 150 and am sure that in a few weeks I will get back to my usual weight of 160, etc."

MEDICAL SOCIETY FOR PHYSICIAN FOR CORONER

Adopts Resolution Pointing to Advantages of Doctor Over Layman.

The St. Louis Medical Society last night passed a resolution stating that the organization favored the election of a physician to the office of Coroner. Dr. Emmet H. Rund is the Democratic nominee for Coroner of St. Louis, and Deputy Coroner William V. Dever, a layman, is his Republican opponent.

The resolution mentions no names, but points out the advantages of a medical man over a layman in the administration of the office of Coroner. The resolution in part follows:

"For the first time in the history of St. Louis a layman has been nominated for the office of Coroner. Since the inception of this most important office a member of the medical profession has always been in charge."

"It is known that the Coroner must determine from a medical point of view the causes of death in cases within his jurisdiction and take such action as circumstances demand. A physician's skill is necessary to properly conduct autopsies, and a layman without knowledge of medicine can succeed only by turning the administration of his office over to one or more technical assistants, thereby becoming a useless appendage to the office."

The resolution further states that the National Research Council of the American Medical Association has urged members of the medical profession to use their influence to see that the best qualified available candidate is elected.

"It is the consensus of the St. Louis Medical Society," the resolution concludes, "that as between a physician and a layman for the office of Coroner, the physician is best qualified."

Priest's Body Placed in Crypt.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 17.

The body of Father Timothy Hick, one of the oldest clergymen in Illinois and several times honored by the Pope, the last preacher in charge of the old Immaculate Conception Church before it became a cathedral, was removed from the cemetery to the crypt in the New Cathedral here, yesterday. Removal of the body and a flag raising, late this afternoon, ended the 3-day diamond jubilee in which Catholics of the Springfield diocese dedicated their new cathedral of the Immaculate Conception.

FRENCH VISITOR LIKES U.S. EDUCATION SYSTEM

Maj. Georges Scapini in St. Louis on Way Home From Legion Convention.

The economic balance of the world will be the most powerful factor in the preservation of peace in the opinion of Maj. Georges Scapini, member of the French Chamber of Deputies, who arrived in St. Louis last night for a two-day visit.

Coupled with the economic factor will be two others of great importance in peace, Scapini said—the ideas of humanity in wanting peace now more than ever before, and government measures for disarmament. The real problem of peace, he said, is again to find productive markets.

Scapini, who, with his aid, Jean Lestandi de Vilani, is returning from the American Legion convention in San Antonio, added that he found America far ahead of France in the education of its youth.

"I am especially interested in this," he said, "because progress in education is one of the objects of my party. You Americans are far ahead of us. You are building a very healthy youth. I visited Tulane University and other universities, and I find your young people especially well educated." Scapini, who suffered total blindness as the result of a bullet wound in the war, studied law and later was elected to the Chamber of Deputies. He made his trip to San Antonio as a representative of his Government. He was a personal friend of Capt. Nungesser and Col. lost trans-Atlantic flyers. He also met Col. Lindbergh in France, and describes him as a "very nice boy whom all France loves."

Scapini spoke today at a luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, members of which met him at the train when he arrived from New Orleans, and on whose invitation he came to the city. He will speak at a meeting of the French Society at the University Club this evening.

JUDGE WHO GOT FEE FROM AIMEE M'PHERSON RAKED

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 17.—Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy was adjudged not guilty yesterday of contempt of the State Bar Committee for refusing to submit to cross-examination in an investigation of payment to him of a $2500 fee by Mrs. Aimee Semple Mc-Pherson, the evangelist, while he occupied the bench.

Judge Marshall F. McComb said he did not want it thought that he was releasing the respondent because he countenanced the acceptance of money. "The question before this court is whether Judge Hardy is a member of the State bar," McComb said. "The State bar is composed of men who to practice law under State A Superior Court Judge, and eligible to practice law, Judge Hardy cannot be a member of the State bar," McComb said. "The State Superior Judge.

THE TRUTH ABOUT BRAN AND CONSTIPATION

Thousands of people eat bran regularly for the healthful roughage it provides. It is a splendid practice. But be sure you are really getting all the roughage you need when you eat bran. Doctors say it takes 100% bran to relieve constipation. Part-bran products, at best, can only accomplish part-way results. That is why they fail!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. It furnishes roughage in effective quantities—and in the most effective form: cooked and krumbled. Just two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal—are guaranteed to relieve constipation.

You'll like the flavor and crispness of ALL-BRAN. Serve with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Mix with other cereals. Sprinkle into soups. Use in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"I was afraid to smoke until I learned about Pebeco"

"I used to envy girls who smoked," writes Miss Elaine Brown of New York City, "but I was afraid to attempt myself for fear it would stain my teeth."

"Not so long ago I noticed one of your advertisements recommending Pebeco Tooth Paste for smokers. I decided to give it a trial."

"I started to smoke and to use

Pebeco at the same time—and I am still enjoying both. My teeth, which have always been a source of pride to me, are whiter than ever before. Even after smoking, my mouth still feels fresh and clean-tasting."

"You can certainly count on me to spread the good news about Pebeco to all my friends."

THOUSANDS of girls who smoke are now welcoming this quick, easy way to keep their teeth sparkling white. Breath immaculate. Mouth sweet and wholesome. They use the tooth paste that's entirely different in formula—different in action from all other kinds—Pebeco.

In Pebeco there is a special ingredient that gently stimulates the saliva. At its sharp, cool taste your mouth feels invigorated—cleansed.

Ugly tobacco stains are quickly washed away. Breath stays sweet. Hours after you brush your teeth your throat and mouth keep deliciously moist and fragrant.

Pebeco polishes beautifully, too. Keeps your gums firm and pink. Use it twice a day.

Made by Pebeco, Inc., a division of Lehn & Fink Products Company. Sole distributors, Lehn & Fink, Inc., Bloomfield, N. J. Distributed in Canada by Lehn & Fink (Canada), Ltd.

Whether you smoke or not Pebeco will keep your teeth marvelously white and clean—safe from the acids of decay

Beginning November 8, Lehn & Fink Radio Program—every Thursday evening at 7, over Station KWK.

"Teeth in better condition than ever before" writes John S. Clarke of Chicago, Ill.

"Before I made the acquaintance of Pebeco my teeth were in very poor condition. They were constantly developing cavities and causing me no end of physical (and financial) pain. Not only that, but they were coated with a disgusting brownish stain—probably caused by tobacco, for I am an inveterate smoker."

"Three years of Pebeco have brought about a remarkable change. My teeth are in better condition than ever before, so my dentist tells me."

"And for the first time since I was a youngster I am not ashamed to open my mouth and smile."

Very truly yours,
(signed) JOHN S. CLARKE

THE SAFETY OF YOUR HOME IS MEASURED BY THE SAFETY OF YOUR TOWN

Your own carefulness in safeguarding home, factory, store or other property against fire is a solemn duty, but it is not enough.

No matter how careful you may be, a bad condition in adjacent or even distant property may undo all your own efforts. Cities must be made safer. It is a civic as well as a personal obligation.

Here is where the Stock Fire Insurance companies—constituting the National Board of Fire Underwriters—have rendered a conspicuous service. Their skilled engineers work unceasingly to make American cities safer.

These engineers have systematically surveyed more than 400 cities, many of them several times. The improvements in water supply, fire alarm systems, fire departments and safety ordinances have been of great public benefit and a decided factor in the consistent rate reductions shown by Stock Fire Insurance.

New hazards, growing out of new inventions and processes, call for prompt engineering treatment. These engineers are always on the alert to provide the necessary measures.

This service is free to all cities, as well as to individual property owners, architects, contractors and builders through the National Board of Fire Underwriters or the Bureau of the Stock Fire Insurance Companies. Your own insurance agent can give you information regarding this service. Inquiries are invited.

have the headache any more."
"I take Black-Draught when I

No Other Cars in the World possess these SAFETY FEATURES

THE new Cadillacs and La Salles are characterized by three revolutionary new safety features of inestimable value to every motorist.

In time of emergency there is no more vital safety factor than the new Cadillac-LaSalle Syncro-Mesh Silent-Shift Transmission which permits quiet, easy, instantaneous shifting of gears in the maze of city traffic or on mountain roads—at any speed—without pausing in neutral—and without the slightest suggestion of clashing. The tremendous advantage of this remarkable transmission can be had only in the new Cadillacs and La Salles.

The second great safety feature is the new braking system. No other cars have equal braking protection, because no other cars have brakes so powerful, so positive in action, so velvet-like in grip and so responsive to the slightest pedal pressure. For these cars and these alone are equipped with the new Duplex-Mechanical System of Effortless Four-Wheel Brakes.

The third rests in the fact that all windows, doors and windshields

1. Women delight in the sense of security instilled by the new and amazingly responsive Syncro-Mesh Silent-Shift Transmission. They can shift gears easily—instantly—at any speed—without the slightest clashing.
2. The new Duplex-Mechanical System of Four-Wheel Brakes are a great and exclusive feature of safety and control—Two independent systems—Internal shoe-type with velvet-like grip—Most effective ever developed.
3. No impact from stick, stone, or ball, or from collision, can shatter Cadillac-LaSalle Security-Plate Glass. This means safety and peace of mind.

are equipped with Cadillac-La Salle Security-Plate Glass—so that you may forever dismiss from your mind any concern about being injured by flying glass fragments.

Ride or, better still, drive a new Cadillac or a new La Salle and you realize at once how vastly they differ from all other cars.

Remarkable handling ease, perfection of control and a grateful sense of security advance them far beyond mere newness.

These new and advanced safety factors are found only in Cadillac and La Salle and are still further reasons why these cars appeal so strongly to women. Investigate these new features for yourself.
Any Cadillac-LaSalle dealer will provide you with a car. Just

CURTIS ATTACKS SMITH ON DRY ACT AND IMMIGRATION

Heckler at Raleigh, N. C., Interrupts Senator With Questions on Prohibition Enforcement.

By the Associated Press.
MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 17.—On a hurried visit to West Virginia today, Senator Curtis, the Republican vice presidential nominee, denounced the State liquor control program of Gov. Smith before an afternoon meeting in the city square of Martinsburg.

State going into the whisky business." The Republican vice presidential nominee also insisted that the proposal of the Democratic presidential candidate to modify the immigration law would "increase immigration by 45 per cent." He warned that this would endanger employment.

Curtis was enthusiastic over his reception yesterday in North Carolina and Virginia. He was greeted by cheering crowds at both Petersburg, Va., and Raleigh, N. C.

Curtis attacked in both states yesterday the proposals of Gov. Smith for modification of the prohibition and immigration laws. In the midst of his address last night at Raleigh a heckler asked the Senator "what has Coolidge done about prohibition enforcement?"

Curtis replied heatedly and amid an uproar in the hall that President Coolidge "has tried to enforce the law" and insisted that enforcement conditions were "improving."

Curtis asked that the questioner be permitted to stay when a cry arose to "throw him out."

"The prohibition law," he declared to the heckler, "is being better enforced each and every day and you know it. I suspect you would be one of those who, Gov.

Smith says, would commit perjury if entrusted with your duty on prohibition cases."

Curtis answered the heckler so heatedly that he almost used up his already weakened voice. He shook both arms in the direction of the questioner.

"How would you like to have Tammany running the liquor business of the country?" he asked. "In the State of New York the Democratic candidate has not turned his hand to enforce the prohibition act for a minute. As Governor of the State he signed the bill repealing the State enforcement law and he would have the American people believe he would enforce the law."

"The prohibition amendment," Curtis declared, "is the result of nearly 100 years of effort and is here to stay. Control of the liquor question is a duty which was expressly delegated to and accepted by every State in the Union except two. There should be no attempt to evade that duty so accepted or to redelegate it to the states."

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 17.—Mrs. August Ladner, 18 years old, and a Negro chauffeur, were drowned when an automobile in which they were riding, snapped a guard chain at the entrance to a ferry last night and plunged into 40 feet of water.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Martin were able to extricate themselves. The former succeeded in reaching the shore without difficulty, and a Negro passenger on the ferry went to the rescue of Mrs. Martin. All occupants of the car resided at Logtown, Miss.

CUBS WILL NOT WRECK TEAM TO OBTAIN HORNSBY, WRIGLEY STATES

M'CARTHY MUST NAME MEN TO BE SENT TO BRAVES OWNER DECLARES

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—If money is any object, Rogers Hornsby will play with the Cubs next season, William Wrigley, principal owner of the Cubs, said today.

"If it is money the Boston Nationals want, we can give it to them, but the trouble is the amount may run in excess of $200,000," Wrigley said.

The hitch in any dealings to bring the Boston second baseman to Chicago, it was indicated by the club owner, most likely would come through the number and caliber of players the Boston club would demand. Wrigley said Boston was asking for "everything possible in the way of players."

"I am not going to be the judge of how far we will go in that direction," he said. "The club will attend to the cash, but Joe McCarthy is the team manager and will have the final say as to what players are to go and what players are to stay. It would be foolish to wreck the present team merely to get one great hitter."

Bush After Detroit Managership, Report.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 17.—Donnie Bush, one-time Detroit shortstop and now manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, is negotiating with Frank Navin of the Tigers for the job of running the local American League club next season, according to a report published here today.

Bush was here a few days ago for a conference with Navin. He told friends there was considerable difference between the salary he asked and the figures offered by Navin. He believed, however, that there could be a compromise.

Donnie also declared, according to friends, that he would not return to Pittsburgh.

Rucky Harris, former manager of the Washington club, was also in Detroit a few days ago conferring with Navin.

It is regarded as certain George Moriarty will not be with Detroit next season.

Major League Players Win Exhibition Game.

By the Associated Press.

DOAKTOWN, N. B., Oct. 17.—Roughing it de luxe is the lot of the group of major league baseball players who are making a hunting trip here. Fresh milk is provided by a cow driven into the camp and a radio has been installed to keep them in touch with the outside world.

The people of Doaktown had the first opportunity of seeing Mickey Cochrane, chosen the most valuable player to his club in the American League, in action after he was given the honor. Cochrane caught in an exhibition game the big leaguers played against a local team before they left last night for Hopewell Lodge, 12 miles from here. The visitors won, 9 to 4.

A. A. Attendance Fell Off Despite Close Race.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Despite the hectic American Association pennant race in which five teams remained in the thick of the fight until the closing weeks of the campaign, the number of fans passing through the turnstiles was 136,000 less than in 1927. The official figures for the 1928 season show an attendance of 1,547,069, as compared with 1,683,563 last year.

The decrease in attendance, however, was not due to any lack of interest during July, August and September, according to President Thomas J. Hickey.

"The closing three months were the best in the history of the league," said Mr. Hickey. "The decrease was due to extremely hot weather that cut into the early season attendance."

Although falling 20,000 short of last year's record mark, Milwaukee for the third successive year led the league in attendance with 118,000. The second place Minneapolis Millers ran second, while the champion, Indianapolis, ranked near the bottom of the league.

KING TUT DEFEATS BILLY PETROLLE IN SENSATIONAL BOUT

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 17.—King Tut, Minneapolis lightweight, last night defeated Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express, in a sensational 10-round slugfest match, in the opinion of newspaper men.

Tut's victory was an upset, as Petrolle went into the fight a favorite by virtue of two previous victories over his opponent.

Petrolle weighed 134½ and Tut tipped the scales at a pound more.

Miller Outpoints Strhura.

By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 17.—Freddie Miller, Cincinnati featherweight, outpointed Andy Strhura, Pittsburgh, in 10 rounds here last night. Joe Lockhart, Evansville, Ind., lightweight, won on a technical knockout over Dudley Ring, Cincinnati, when the latter broke his hand in the fifth round.

Stillman Opposes Reed In Feature Contest of Amateur Program Tonight

By Damon Kerby.

The reign of Al Stillman, runner-up for the national amateur middleweight championship this year and undisputed king in his division in the Western district since the fall of Frankie Power, has been threatened by an ambitious young boxer and bridge worker who, entering competition here minus the blare of trumpets several months ago, has earned a bout with Stillman by his good showing.

The newcomer is Jimmy Reed, of the Baden A. C., and he will get a chance to prove his real worth tonight when he meets Stillman in the main bout of the Motorbus A. C. card at the Armory arena, Grand and Market. Stillman's title will not be at stake.

Reed's record in local amateur circles includes knockouts over Jerry Hoffman, star line man of the Washington U. football team, and Mike Clayton. He also fought a fast fight with Pat Cooney, district junior middleweight champion, in which the decision was given to Reed after four rounds, but several days later was presented to Cooney. In all his local bouts Reed has exhibited a right-hand punch as his chief weapon.

Was Unusual Contest.

The victory of Reed over Hoffman will be remembered as being out of the ordinary, for it was in this bout that Reed actually defeated Hoffman twice. Reed had his opponent helpless in the first round. The bout was so one-sided that Referee Jack Hughes had started to raise Reed's arm in token of victory, while at the referee's back Hoffman's seconds had tossed in a towel. While Hughes was in the act of declaring Reed winner, the bell rang. The towel was quickly withdrawn by Hoffman's handlers and the seconds were allowed to take Hoffman to his corner and send him out for the second round. Reed was on Hoffman at the gong and Hoffman was sent down again. He obviously could not defend himself and Reed was credited with a knockout.

Graswick Enters S. B. A. C. Tourney

Seven more entries for the preliminary events of tomorrow night's amateur boxing tourney at the South Broadway A. C. and the withdrawal of Jack Emerich, East Side flyweight, were announced today by Matchmaker Willie Miller, who stated he now has 35 fighters enrolled as candidates for pairings in the attractions supporting a special program of four contests.

Jack Graswick, senior Western A. A. U. lightweight champion and ace of the East St. Louis Knights of Columbus boxing team, is one of the added starters. The newly organized Columbus A. C. of this city is represented on the list of added contestants by Mickey Sordearo, a light-heavyweight, and Patrick Dimmaggio, a welterweight.

The remaining entries were filed by Ernest Dochow, a light-heavyweight; Anton Podulowski, welterweight, and Dick Costello, flyweight, representing the South Broadway club, and Charley Florence, Tower A. C. bantam.

George West, senior Western District featherweight champion, and Freddy Saunders, the junior titleholder, meeting for the third time, will furnish an inter-city feature of the special card.

A return match between Gilbert "Beave" Terry of the Flori Olympians and Gene Burke of the Business Men's A. C. will furnish a flyweight feature, while another flyweight event brings together Johnny Tomazini of the Tower A. C. and Vic Podulowski of the South Broadway squad.

EX-WESTPORT END STAR JOINS SHARPES SQUAD

By Jerry Bernoudy.

A long practice of fundamentals and a stiff drill running reconstructed plays along the second team, marked the workout of the Washington University football team yesterday afternoon in preparation for their next contest with Butler College. Dr. Sharpe does not want his men to forget the importance of such things as tackling, blocking, bucking, passing and punting, and took time yesterday to give his charges quite a bit of work in these departments.

Coach "Simon Legree" Benson attracted the attention of everybody with the furious workout which he put his ends through. Benson had his wingmen hurdlers over blockers, tackling the dummy and falling on the ball until they could hardly stand up. The end candidates were enriched last night by the addition of Robert Berlinger, a 180-pound athlete who played on the Kansas City Westport High School team.

Dr. Sharpe made a change in his first string backfield, placing Dick Rawdon at halfback in place of Theis Lohring, who has started all of the Bear games this year. Rawdon has been handicapped since the first week of practice with a fractured rib, but his work during the few minutes he was in the Kansas battle evidently convinced the Bear coach that he is fully recovered.

Instead of the usual scrimmage with the Varsity, Coach Mike Walker has divided his freshmen squad into five sectional teams which will play each other for championship honors. Each team is composed of players from a particular section of the country. Here being a St. Louis team, an Illinois team, an all-state team, and an all-American team. On Friday these teams will meet in the first round of play. It is Coach Walker's intention to pick an all-star aggregation after the winner has been decided. This eleven will oppose freshmen teams from other schools next month.

GHNOULY AND VIDAL IN SIX-ROUND BOUT AT COLISEUM MONDAY

Matchmaker Jack Tippet completed his card for next Monday night's professional boxing show at the Coliseum when he closed negotiations for a pair of six-round bouts to be contested as preliminaries to the three 10-round matches previously announced.

Joe Ghnoully, former Western A. A. U. bantam champion will oppose "Frog" Vidal of Scott Field, St. Louis, in a six-round bout. Bruno Klaesner and Edith Red Reith, local featherweight punchers.

Al De Rose, Newark featherweight star, is due in St. Louis today and will be assigned training quarters at the National Gymnasium where he will finish his preparatory work for a 10-round bout with Joe Paraglini of Louisville, in the New Coliseum bill. Paraglini will report Friday, while Jimmy Harris, Cincinnati featherweight, and Joey Rivers of Kansas City, are expected to reach town tomorrow.

Harris is paired with Johnny Kaiser for the feature 10-round bout and Rivers engages Paul Steadman in another star attraction.

SEEK JUDGMENT OF $40,000 FROM OWNERS OF ARLINGTON TRACK

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—A suit to obtain judgment against the American National Jockey Club, owners of the Arlington Heights track, on a note for $40,000 was filed in the Circuit Court yesterday by the Edward Hines Lumber Co.

The bill sets forth that at the time the Arlington Heights track was being built, the club entered into a contract with the Hines Lumber Co. for lumber valued at $150,000. All but the last note for $40,000, due last month, has been paid. The action yesterday was to obtain a judgment on this unpaid note.

EXTRA INNINGS by J. Roy Stockton

Just See Mr. Ball.

HEINE MANUSH takes rank with the hard luck champions of baseball this year. Of course, Heine has the satisfaction of the cast-off who made good. Last year he hit only .299 for Detroit and was traded to the Browns with Lu Blue for Harry Rice and Elam Vangilder. Heine closed the season with an unofficial batting average of .371.

But despite his great finish, Heine, according to the unofficial averages, was nosed out for the league batting championship by Goose Goslin, the outfielder without a throwing arm.

That was bad enough. But when Heine had just about recovered from that bad break, along came the news that Mickey Cochrane had beaten him by two votes for the most valuable player trophy and the accompanying $1000 cash prize.

However, Heine made George Moriarty sorry about that trade and then Phil Ball probably will be so angry at the committee's decision against Manush that he'll double that "one grand" in Heine's next contract.

Watch Frisch at Third.

PERHAPS a shift to third base is just what Frankie Frisch needs to inspire him to another great year. When Frankie was traded to the Cardinals for Rogers Hornsby he knew he had a big job on his hands. But he played second like a star, with dash and skill that he established a new record for chances accepted and it was largely due to his efforts that the Cards of 1927 were able to finish second, in spite of accidents to O'Farrell and Thevenow and other misfortunes.

Of course, if Carey Selph, the phenom from Houston, blows up, Frisch will have to stay at second base. But Selph is regarded as a sure-fire hit and second base is considered his one and only dish, because they say his arm is not strong enough for third base or short. If he is as good a hitter and fielder as his record at Houston indicates,

Frisch will be moved to third base.

Frisch was a game third sacker with the Giants. He went after everything hit his way and when he couldn't get his hands on the ball he'd stop it with his body. By mid-season he had black and blue spots all over his body where he had stopped potential base hits. His speed enabled him to turn most of the sops into putouts.

He is said to have volunteered to shift to third and perhaps the striving to make good in the new job will give him another great year. During 1928 Frankie was not an outstanding player, either as a hitter or fielder.

If Charley Gelbert makes good at short Maraville will be released for duty elsewhere, or retained as a reserve. The Rabbit probably could do better work at second than at short, so he too would be available to pave the way for the shift of Frisch to third base.

Chance for Thevenow.

TOMMY THEVENOW may come back as a great star with the Phillies. The year of comparative idleness has given Tommy's injured ankle a chance to recover and he will tackle his duties with renewed confidence next spring. It is difficult, of course, to welcome a shift from a pennant winner to a tailender, but at Philadelphia Thevenow will have a chance to play every day, and that is what he needs.

"I've played next to some pretty fair shortstops in my day," said Frankie Frisch recently, "but I consider Thevenow the best of them all. I'm speaking of the Thevenow of 1927, before he was injured. I ever saw on a double play, but he gave the ball to you at exactly the right height and it comes to you quickly and yet as light as a feather. You can pivot at second with your eyes shut with Thevenow at short, because you know exactly where the ball will be. What a tragedy it was when that kid cracked his ankle!"

St. Louis Golfers To Compete in Inter-City Event

St. Louis golfers will endeavor to defeat Chicago golfers for the second successive time when the two groups meet in the second inter-city golf tourney over the Olympia Fields course in Chicago, Saturday and Sunday.

In the first tournament here last year, the St. Louis team defeated the visitors, led by Chick Evans, in a two-day event on the Glen Echo links by a point score of 47 to 26.

Twosomes will go out Saturday and foursomes on Sunday in the coming event. One point will be awarded the winner of each 36-hole match in the twosomes, while in the foursomes one point will go to each winning team.

The St. Louis squad, as announced by Walter Pfeffer, in charge of local arrangements, will be composed of the following: Jimmy Manion, Normandie; Clarence L. Wolff, Sunset; Dick Bockenkamp, Midland; Elliott Whitbread, Osage; Bill Mertz, Normandie; Bryan Winter, Westminster; Chester O'Brien, Creve Coeur; Roger Lord, Algonquin; Chris Kenney, Sunset; Don Lambert, Conway; Sunbelt; and Everett Brooks, Glen Echo.

Several outstanding stars will be included on the Chicago team. Chick Evans, the top man, will include John Dawson, medalist at the Guls Novotny, runner-up in the Western amateur.

PETROLE, FAVORED AT 4 TO 1, KNOCKED OUT IN NINTH ROUND

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The knockout victory of Lou Moscovitz, New York featherweight, over Minniek Petrone here last night was regarded by fight experts today as one of the outstanding upsets of the local boxing season. Petrone was a four to one favorite to win.

Moscovitz scored a technical knockout over his opponent in the ninth round of their scheduled 10-round bout. In swift succession he floored Petrone twice with rights to the jaw. Petrone was helpless against the ropes when Referee Patsey Haley intervened.

Up to the ninth round Petrone was leading on points.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Otto von Porat, Norwegian contender for the heavyweight championship, opens the indoor boxing season in the Coliseum tonight, engaging Chick Wiggins, veteran Indianapolis champion, in a 10-round match.

Von Porat is in the best shape since he began his professional career. He took on weight while on a hunting trip in the Canadian Rockies and probably will scale around 190 pounds tonight.

Roosevelt Team Is Crippled for Kirkwood Game

A crippled Roosevelt team will play Kirkwood, at Kirkwood, Saturday afternoon, at 2:30 p. m., in a non-league high school football game. Three of Roosevelt's line-men will watch the game from the sidelines.

Ehredt, Jenkins and Buch, who play at the center or guard positions, sustained injuries in the battle with St. Louis University High last week, but it is expected that these regulars will be in shape for the opening league game Saturday, Oct. 27.

Coach Lee Carlson, Roosevelt director, has shifted Norris to center and Monteith will hold down left tackle. Monteith has recuperated from a sprained ankle and will be available for regular duty, barring injuries.

Carlson also shifted Clark Wilson to end, his place at half being taken over by Hundhausen, a second string player.

Roosevelt's probable lineup will be Vogel or Frazier and Wilson, ends; Monteith and Becker, tackles; Belter and Orf, guards; Norris, center; Lang, quarterback; Savage or Doran, and Hundhausen, halfbacks; Barnes, fullback.

MANY KANSAS PLAYERS ARE ON INJURED LIST

By the Associated Press.

LAWRENCE, Kas., Oct. 17.—Injuries to his charges appear to be the chief worry of Coach H. W. Hargies at the University of Kansas this week as he prepares the Jayhawk eleven for the battle Saturday with Kansas Aggies at Manhattan.

With several K. U. regulars on the injured list, Allan Cochran, substitute end, yesterday suffered an injury which probably will keep him out of the game Saturday at Manhattan.

Coach Hargies sent the squad through a stiff dummy scrimmage using Andy Olson, veteran tackle, who has been unable to play before this season because of injuries.

TOKIO, Oct. 17.—Johnny Weissmuller of Chicago set what was claimed to be a record for a 50-meter pool today when he swam 150 yards free style in one minute 24.3 seconds, during the international exhibitions in the Tamagawa pool.

Eric Rademacher in the 200-meter breast stroke covered the distance in four minutes 41.2 seconds for what was claimed to be a world record.

Country Day to Face Kansas City Eleven Saturday

By Robert W. Herr.

Country Day will meet the Kansas City Country Day School here Saturday afternoon in the first of the local team's two inter-sectional games. The other contest will take the St. Louis eleven to Milwaukee, where they are to play the Milwaukee Country Day on Nov. 3.

The Kansas City team has not shown here since 1924, when they were handed a decisive beating by Coaches, but they have improved considerably and went through the 1927 season without a defeat. According to reports, the team is just as strong this year and Coach Hughes of the locals expects a real battle when the two squads meet.

As Coaches has a better team than for some seasons past, however, Hughes believes that his men have an even chance of coming out on the long end of the score. The county school has won two of its three starts this far, trimming McBride, 7-6, and trouncing C. B. C. 31-7, but dropping a close and hard-fought contest to Western, 6-0, and is considered a strong contender for the Prep League title.

The team is of about medium weight, averaging around 160 pounds, and has a backfield combination of Tupper, Huch, Boettler and Lehman that appears to be as good as any in the league.

Kirkwood, playing his first year, is a new open field runner and has gotten away for numerous good gains. While Tupper is picking up yardage through the line, the defense, which is rather weak, will get out attention week.

Games will be played every day afternoon. The Board of Education has granted the permission to use the Beaumont High School field at Prairie avenue and Natural Bridge avenue.

The teams are already entering, representing Holy Cross, Wesley, Kingdom House and Neighborhood House. Wesley House has won permission to use the Beaumont High School field at Prairie avenue and Natural Bridge avenue.

LOTS OF ROOM FOR GOOD MEN IN SOCCER CLUBS

By Dent McSkimming.

The winners of last Sunday's matches, the Wellstons and the Madisons, will meet in the second game of next Sunday's professional double-header at Sportsman's Park. If the field is as carpet-like as it was on the opening day, a remarkably fast game will result for speed is a dominant characteristic of each team's play. In the first portion of the bill, the Ben Millers will oppose the Jabbers.

Hartigan Operated On.
Francis "Bonnie" Hartigan, the young center halfback who played the first half of last Sunday's game for the Madison club, is lost to his team for the remainder of the season. He was operated on for appendicitis Tuesday. Hartigan suffered an attack Saturday night, but in spite of a troublesome illness, he played Sunday. He was too sick to continue in the second half and was relieved by Eddie Burke. He was taken to Mullanphy Hospital Sunday evening and was operated upon Tuesday.

Because of the shocking reverses suffered in the opening game of the season, the Ben Miller management is expected to produce a greatly changed lineup. Manager Foley has hopes of bringing Tai Mulroy, Tom Erbe and Joe Hennessy, three holdouts, into camp, but he has not yet signed them. Johnny Hamann, who succeeded Bartlett in goal in the second half against the Wellstons, will start each game henceforth. Foley says there is some question whether Croak and Tracy, halfbacks, will be sufficiently recovered from knee injuries to play. If they are on the shelf Foley will have to resort to heroic changes.

There are still a lot of promising young men unattached, including the Olympic team stars, John Kane, Bernie Chartrand, Jim Cronin, Art Claeys, Bill Smith, Richard Berger and others, not to mention Tom Chartrand, Danny Bernard, John Prindable, Walter Hatchard and others who had previous brief professional trials before they were fully developed. Instead of standing pat with players who have passed their day of usefulness, the professional league bosses would do well to give some of these youngsters a trial.

Plenty of Holes to Be Plugged.
Judged by their showing of Sunday, each team in the league still has weak spots which need bolstering.

The Wellstons have three very satisfactory forwards, the Hart brothers and Ahrens, a fourth who will undoubtedly prove useful, Rudge, but they need a good right wing man. Both wing halfbacks could be improved upon. The goalkeeper, Sauter, the two fullbacks, Nolan and White, and Center Halfback Lehman are all that could be desired.

In the Madison eleven the forward line is good enough to win games on a dry field but Worden, Flavin and Moore will have a hard time getting around in the mud. The halfbacks are not brilliant, but they are persistent defenders and the fullbacks, Hand and Cookey, will look as good as any in the league. LaBarge can scarcely be improved upon in goal but he needs an understudy. The best man available for the job is Jim Walsh, who shared the goalkeeping berth on the St. Louis Olympic team with John Hamm.

The Jabbers are still wobbly in the fullback division, although Marre has five candidates for the position—Neal McCarthy, Phelan, Jensen, Gus Decker and Brancanier. The chief difficulty in the halfback line is a lack of beef. Quinlan is too easily knocked off the ball. In the front rank, there is a gaping hole at inside right and a younger man should be sharing time with Al McHenry, ready to succeed the veteran wing man.

Great Need for a Center Man.
The Millers are in such shape that they could well be recast from one end to the other. Their greatest need now is for a center forward, and after that a clever inside right. There are good men on the roster but they are not functioning together and in such a situation trades might work great benefit, both to players and to clubs.

With so many weak spots glaring through, the same weak spots which were apparent last season, one cannot help wondering why such fellows as young Kane, Chartrand, Claeys, Cronin and others are not used. St. Louis soccer fans know a poor player when they see him; and when they see him too often they don't return to see him again.

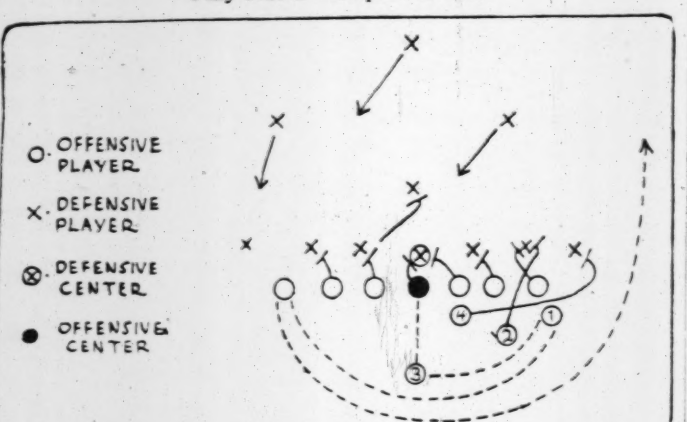

WORTH TAKES LEAD IN TITLE CUE MATCH
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Jerry Worth of Chicago, St. Louis amateur 132 ball line champion, defeated Al Sleig of Chicago, 250 to 203, in 35 innings last night in the first block of their championship match. Worth had a high run of 35 while Sleig's high run was 23.

Wine Gets Draw.
CANTON, O., Oct. 17.—K. O. Christner of Akron and Frank Wine of Montana, heavyweights, fought 10 rounds to a draw here last night. Roy Rosales, Mexican heavyweight, won from Jim Blackburn, Barborton, O., in the six-round semifinal.

Rules on Lateral Pass Must Be Observed Making Triple Reverse Play, Says Anderson

This is the second of a series of three gridiron plays drawn up for the benefit of high school and independent teams by Hearty Anderson, head coach at St. Louis University. The third play in the series will appear in the Post-Dispatch Friday.

Play No. 2—Triple Reverse.

This looks complicated at the first glance but is easily followed. Back No. 3 gets direct pass from center and advances as if to go off tackle, but gives the ball to Back No. 1, who crosses and crosses to the other side of the line, where he gives the ball to the left end. Left end swings back wide around the right end. Back No. 2 blocks the defensive tackle. Back No. 3 hits defensive left end after passing ball to Back No. 1. Back No. 1, after passing the ball to his left end, hits defensive right end.

The change in the rules regarding lateral passes must be watched in this play. If the pass is two yards or longer it remains in possession of the offensive side, when fumbled. If less than two yards, it becomes the property of the side which recovers it.

MAROON ELEVEN IS CRIPPLED FOR MINNESOTA GAME

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—The "It" will have it hard and heavy in the "Dads' day" game at Champaign this week-end when Indiana and Illinois meet for the first time in many years.

Indiana already has a Western Conference victory on the books, a 6-0 conquest of Michigan last Saturday. In addition, Coach Pat Page's squad has beaten Wabash, which was not much of a job, and Oklahoma, which was. Illinois has not yet engaged in Big Ten competition this year.

For the thirteenth time in Big Ten history Purdue and Wisconsin will meet Saturday, with Wisconsin holding a big edge in the argument. Only once has Purdue been victorious, in 1922, and twice the teams have tied. Coach Jimmy Phelan is likely to depend on passes and end runs to offset the strength of Wisconsin's line.

Iowa and McLean played havoc with Coach Stagg's Chicagoans, and the veteran coach is faced with the problem of revamping a squad beset by injuries in preparation for Minnesota's pile driving backs, Cassie, capable drop kicker, is the latest Chicago injury.

It will be wildcat against wildcat when Northwestern and Kentucky meet Saturday. Beaten by Ohio, Coach Dick Hanley is giving his men for the Kentucky franchise as if it were a Big Ten game. Michigan's rookie eleven, humiliated by Indiana last week, will attempt to abandon the losing column Saturday at Columbus against Ohio State. The Buckeyes, however, have their aim set on the Wolverines as another target in their march toward the top of the conference standings.

SYRACUSE READY FOR GAME WITH HUSKER ELEVEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Syracuse sends her gridiron gallies into the hostile territory of Lincoln, Neb., this week and hopes for the best. Nebraska's Cornhuskers confidently await.

Syracuse remembers well a certain afternoon last fall when Glenn Presnell and his mates trampled Syracuse into decisive defeat, 21-0. There's no Presnell at Nebraska now but Howell still is smashing away at opposing lines. He gave ample evidence that he is still to be reckoned with last week, scoring all four Cornhusker touchdowns against Montana State.

But Syracuse supporters have ample reason to feel that if Syracuse is beaten it will not be by any three-touchdown margin. Thus far Syracuse has piled up 104 points while holding Hopart, William and Mary and Johns Hopkins to six. Hobart incidentally scored the one touchdown against Syracuse in the first game of the season and Syracuse has come fast and far since then.

The Syracuse-Nebraska game seems to furnish Eastern fans with most of their intersectional interest this week but there are three others that will not be neglected. Colgate Plays Argies.

West Virginia, fresh from her 5-0 victory over Pittsburgh, meets Washington and Lee at Charleston, W. Va., to settle the argument that ended in a 6-6 tie last year. Colgate takes a train West to battle Michigan State at East Lansing, while Duke is trying to give Navy its fourth straight defeat at Annapolis.

Aside from these four games the rest of Saturday's Eastern schedule is inter-sectional. The Army-Harvard game at the Harvard Stadium is the headline. Yale will be at full strength for the Brown game and should win. McLaughry apparently has not yet succeeded in matching his great Brown squad of 1926.

Nationally Known Golf Stars Again Won Major Tournaments for Season

By Johnny Farrell, American Open Golf Champion.

Another golf campaign has come to a close as the tang of October reminds us that football days are here and that we must soon pack our grips and hie on to warmer climes there to take up again the search for pars and birdies.

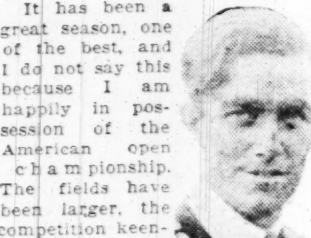

It has been a great season, one of the best, and I do not say this because I am happily in possession of the American open championship. The fields have been larger, the competition keener.

And yet, players who are well known, who have either been at the crest in other years or have reputations of big caliber, are the champions. There is not an unfamiliar face among the lot.

I am the open champion, but before the winning of this great title I was pretty well known. This is also true of Leo Diegel, who made himself king of the pros. It is Diegel's first American national title, but he was twice Canadian open champion, and the holder of numerous other important blue ribbons. Earlier in the year he won the Canadian championship for the third time, which was quite sufficient to create for Leo a niche in the golfing hall of fame.

Hagen Won British Open.
In winning these two national championships the same year, Leo showed his versatility by emerging from one at medal play and the other at match play, which makes him a champion of sorts.

Waiter Hagen, while he was short of his professional laurels by Diegel, still retains the British open crown. Leave it to Haig to have some kind of a coronet. And usually it is well worth while. Glenna Collett is again champion of the women golfers. This was the season's biggest and happiest surprise. It is Miss Collett's third national prize and showed her to be better equipped with woods and irons than any time before in her illustrious career. It may seem strange that Glenna should rise to a higher plane than she had ever enjoyed before after a slump that lasted for years. But it does happen that way sometimes.

Many a golfer has scored consistently lower when the competition has become, particularly keen. This it seems, has been the case with Miss Collett. Under pressure she delivered an assortment of shots that amazed all. Glenna had to do just that or be beaten, so to speak. Competition among the women has become very heated and a girl must play superlative golf to reach the summit.

Kaufmann Retains Honors.
Carl Kaufmann, the slender young Pittsburgh man who is a stenographer by occupation, is again the holder of the public links championship. Kaufmann has won the title two years running, thereby proving quite conclusively that he is one of the golfing greats. There are some who do not take these public links tournaments seriously, believing them to be filled with players of only mediocre or doubtful ability. This is far from the truth.

Play on the public links has kept pace with the progress made on

SOONERS AND TEXAS U. ENTER 10-YEAR PACT

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 17.—The existence of a 10-year contract with the University of Texas, providing for a football game each year with the University of Oklahoma, during the Dallas fair was revealed here last night by Ben Owen, athletic director of the university.

When the Big Six Conference was originated late last year, the conference granted special permission for the Sooners to play this game away from home, Owen said.

Ruth-Lenard in Draw.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 17.—Babe Ruth, Louisville, and Henry Lenard, Chicago, featherweights, boxed 10 rounds to a draw here last night. Ruth excelled at infighting, but Lenard was the aggressor and better at other departments.

The game was halted temporarily in the closing minutes when Coach Kyle of Taylor struck Duse, Maryville hall, a blow on the neck after Duse had tackled Carl Tarkio, who had thrown him into an automobile parked back of the sideline. Kyle's own men prevented him from landing further blows.

MEN WHO GUARD THEIR HEALTH SMOKE CIGARS

"Philadelphia" Jack O'Brien Famous Physical Culture Expert Advises Men Who Smoke, to Smoke Cigars

La Palina is America's Largest Selling High Grade Cigar [OVER A MILLION A DAY] its outstanding popularity is the best proof of its unusual quality

JACK O'BRIEN retired as undefeated light-heavyweight champion of the world. He has probably conditioned more prominent men and reduced more prominent waistlines than any man living. As a result of his experience and observations he advises men who smoke to smoke cigars.

"Altho I have never used tobacco in any form, I've noticed that soon after a man switches from other forms of tobacco to cigars," says "Philadelphia" Jack O'Brien, "his wind improves, his nerves steady and he has more endurance, and so tires less easily than before."

There are good reasons for the observations of "Philadelphia" Jack O'Brien. A cigar is smoked for taste—slowly and leisurely—one is not lighted from the end of another, so cigar smoking never degenerates into a nervous habit. And the fine, full flavor of a cigar can be enjoyed without inhalation—indeed few cigars smokers ever inhale. Further, a cigar has no tendency to irritate the throat—for to quote a prominent New York specialist: "The principal reason for throat troubles amongst smokers is the burning, drying effect of hot tobacco smoke upon the tender tissues of the throat. Cigar smoke is cool. A cigar is smoked leisurely—and since no quick-burning foreign substance is used for wrapper the tobacco burns slowly and is further cooled and filtered as it is drawn through the body of the cigar."

Make this test for a week—smoke cigars exclusively and you will find yourself feeling better, with no cough or throat irritation, improved nerves, increased vitality and less of that tired feeling.

To really test cigars, with justice to yourself and to cigars, we suggest the test be made with La Palinas. Since they are America's largest selling high grade cigars... over a million a day—you can smoke them, confident that they will please you.

The sensational success of La Palina results from an exclusive and secret blend which combines for the first time in one cigar an extreme mildness with a rare richness of both taste and fragrance.

ST. PAUL KILLS ROBBER IN ATTEMPTED HOLDUP

Man More Able to Deal With Problems Than Hoover, He Declares.

By the Associated Press.
ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Sec.)—The St. Paul Police Department today told the Ramsey County Jail that a man who is more capable to deal with the complex problems of this country than the president's nominee, Herbert Hoover.

Speaking at a luncheon in a downtown hotel, Kellogg declared that Hoover did not fix the price of wheat after the United States entered the world war as has been asserted. As a member of the Senate at that time, he said, Hoover had nothing to do with the fixing of the price, but was largely instrumental in preventing a combination of allies from lowering the price of wheat.

For St. Lawrence Canal. Kellogg spoke mostly of North-western and Great Lakes problems and declared that Hoover was strongly in favor of the building of the St. Lawrence canal to give the great region in the North-west an outlet to the sea. He said that the United States was going to build the canal, but that the operation of both governments in the operation of the project was giving the project all the attention this country could give.

Stands on Party Records. "I am not an intense partisan who will tell you that all good progress depends upon the Republican party," he said, "but as parties are judged by the results of legislation and administration, I take you to have any reason at the time for a change."

Declaring that he had yet to hear any really sound criticism of President Coolidge's administration, Kellogg reviewed briefly the reduction of the national debt and the settlement of the foreign debt, and declared that under the administration he had seen "economical, forward-looking, liberal, conducted in the interest of the people." He said it has inspired confidence and stability and encouraged industry.

Hoover had taken a leading part in protecting the rights of the people, he said, adding that under the administration he had seen "economical, forward-looking, liberal, conducted in the interest of the people." He said it has inspired confidence and stability and encouraged industry.

LOOP FLYER TO HELP MAKE FOG-PENETRATING FLIGHT TEST

Lieut. Doolittle, Dare-Devil of the Army, to Assist in Experiments at Mitchell Field.

By the Associated Press.
DAYTON, O., Oct. 17.—Lieut. James H. Doolittle, daredevil of the Army Air Service, has gone to Mitchell Field, L. I., to help perfect a fog-penetrating light.

Doolittle became the "admiral of the McCook Field fleet" when, in 1925, he won the Schneider cup for naval airplanes, flying the course in a Curtiss pursuit airplane equipped as a seaplane. He traveled well over 220 miles an hour.

Doolittle attracted attention when he flew from Jacksonville, Fla., to Coronado, Cal., in 21 hours 15 minutes, in 1922. On May 25, 1927, he executed the inverted loop, an aerial stunt considered so hazardous that the Army issued an order against it.

While employed by the Curtiss Corporation Doolittle made the first flight over the Andes mountains in South America.

Since graduation from the ranks of student flyers at old McCook Field, Doolittle has been in turn a test pilot, chief of the flight research division and head of the airplane branch of the field, since abandoned for the new Wright field.

FRUIT CAST AT SMITH SPEAKER
Farmers' Union Officer Outraged Target at Bethany, Ok.

By the Associated Press.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Oct. 17.—Overripe fruit was thrown at John A. Simpson, president of the Oklahoma Farmers' Union, when he spoke in behalf of the presidential candidacy of Gov. Smith last night at Bethany, a small town a few miles west of Oklahoma City.

C. T. Stover of the sales department of the Farmers' Union, who attended the meeting with Simpson, said it was his opinion the missiles were hurled by boys. No trouble occurred, Simpson was in Dallas today. Stover said shouts of "Hurrah for Hoover," and "Hurrah for Ham," came from the crowd at intervals. The Rev. M. F. Ham, Oklahoma City minister, is conducting an active campaign against Gov. Smith. Bethany is a student city, with the majority of the Nazarene Church and its municipal government is controlled by that denomination. It has strict Sunday closing laws and the sale of tobacco is prohibited.

TARIFF ON FLUORSPAR RAISED Coolidge Increases It From $5.60 to $8.40 a Long Ton

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—President Coolidge today raised the tariff on fluor spar from $5.60 a long ton to $8.40.

In his proclamation the President said that such an increase in tariff was found to be necessary in an investigation conducted by the Tariff Commission, to equalize the cost of production in this country and in England. Fluorspar, which is used principally in the manufacture of steel, is imported into this country at present at a rate of about 110,000 short tons a year. The domestic consumption in 1927 was about 184,000 short tons, of which about 29 per cent was imported. There are fluor spar mines in Southern Illinois.

MAJOR STOCK OPERATIONS FOR ADVANCE

Market Runs Into Heavy Profit-Taking—Few Specialties Have Wide Upward Range—Sizeable Group of Net Declines.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The stock market, having advanced rather steadily for a week or more, ran into heavy profit taking today, but major speculative operations were again on the upside. Spectacular advances of 5 to nearly 10 points took place in a few specialties and net gains of 1 to 4 points in a long list of standard rails and industrials were offset by a sizeable group of net declines, several of which ran from 2 to 5 points.

Some of the day's selling was inspired by fears of another large increase in brokers' loans in the Federal Reserve statement to be published after the close tomorrow. A few of the large commission houses also sent out bearish market advice, which brought about rather heavy liquidation by nervous investors and speculators. Judging from the number of stocks "loosed" after the session, "short" selling also was a factor, but it appeared to be rather cautious in character.

Credit Situation Improves.
The credit situation showed some improvement. Call money renewed unchanged at 7 1/2 per cent and then dropped to 7, but loans in the "outside market" were freely available at 6 1/2 per cent during the afternoon. Time money and commercial paper rates held steady with the demand relatively light.

Nickel a Feature.
International Nickel was the spectacular individual feature, soaring 19 points to a new high record at 164 1/2, as against a low of 135 earlier in the year, on buying influenced by rumors of a 6 for 1 stock split-up, and rumors of important developments in the company's Canadian mines. The rise in this issue was accelerated by active short covering.

With more than a score of the large industrial companies ahead having provided for stock splits-up and several more reported to be considering such action, recapitalization rumors again played an important part in the day's proceedings. Dupont ran up 11 points to a new high at 47 1/2 and General Motors touched a new top at 21 1/2, and then slipped back to 21 1/4, up 1/2 net. Wall street hears that General Motors directors will declare a stock dividend of 25 per cent and split up the stock on a 2 for 1 basis at the next meeting. One of the chief advantages of this plan is to obtain wider distribution of the stock.

Rock Island ran up 5 1/2 points to a new top at 126 1/2.

Revival of activity and strength in the oil shares followed a series of recent trade developments, including the formation of an oil export association, the holding of conferences by those interested in Venezuelan production, and the drop in crude oil production last week. Tidewater-Associated, Standard Oil of New York and Texas Corporation advanced with blocks of 4400 to 10,000 shares.

New high records also were established by Otis Elevator, Victor Talking Machine, Grand Union Stores, Household Products, J. P. Morgan, National Cash Register, Martin Rockwell and Great Northern Ore.

The renewal rate for call loans was held at 7 1/2 per cent.

FINANCIAL NOTES

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The New York stock market today showed a general advance, with the Dow Jones industrial average closing at 230.15, up 1.15 points from 229.00 yesterday. The market was characterized by heavy profit-taking in many of the leading issues, but a number of specialties advanced sharply, including International Nickel, which rose 19 points to 164 1/2. The volume of trading was reported to be one of the heaviest of the season.

The Federal Reserve statement, expected tomorrow, is expected to show a further increase in brokers' loans, which may lead to a tightening of credit conditions. However, the credit situation generally improved today, with call money rates falling from 7 1/2 to 7 per cent.

Several companies reported earnings for the third quarter, including General Motors, which reported a net profit of $1,125,000, and Standard Oil of New York, which reported a net profit of $1,000,000.

SHARES SOLD.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Total sales, 4,277,600 shares, compared with 4,066,100 yesterday, 4,277,600 a week ago and 2,716,200 a year ago. Total sales from Jan. 1 to Oct. 17, 60,055,400 shares, compared with 44,007,000 a year ago.

STIFF LYONS VELVET COMES BACK IN MOLYNEUX COLLECTION

New-Old Fabric Is Costly, But It Has Won Such Favor That Americans Are Buying Up Every Inch of It That They Can Find.

BY EDWARD MOLYNEUX

Paris. As far as the house of Molyneux was concerned, the mode changed its aspect in the month of August. By the time this appears in print my midseason collection will have been shown to the public and I myself shall be holiday-making in America. Americans, more than any other people, are continually asking for new fashions. Scarcely has one become acclimatized to one change when American buyers are again besieging the dressmaking houses of Paris, eager for more novelties. This is all very well, but nothing stimulates more against the production of novelty than a successful collection. In August I made a definite change in line, in fabric and in length. My new collection is quite unlike anything I have ever produced before except in certain details of technique which are characteristic.

Some people have a theory that an established house to launch into complete novelty is a court disaster. They maintain that once you have attained fame in a certain line people look to you for that line, and, though they think they want novelty, what they really desire is a revised version of that to which they have been accustomed.

Having made the experiment, I will tell you its advantages and its drawbacks. In my case the change seems to have found favor in all quarters. My workrooms have never been so busy. Every inch of space is occupied. It means growth, and the workrooms will simply have to be extended. So from a business point of view a new inspiration is a very real advantage. Then too, it is encouraging to know that the public appreciates one's having the courage of one's convictions.

Now as to the drawbacks. While I am at this article I am at work producing my midseason collection. I really should not have time to write. It is only possible because I am held up on every side. The workrooms are so busy reproducing the models of the August collection that I cannot get anything new made. Ideas are there, but the difficulty is to get them materialized.

But that is not all. The new collection includes a great many models made of stiff Lyons velvet, such as has not been used at all in the lifetime of the young generation. This new-old fabric has pleased American buyers so much that they have bought up every inch of the fabric I want for my midseason collection. This may be flattering, but at the same time it's maddening.

It seems that expense is no deterrent to the success of any fashion if it pleases. The stiff Lyons velvets are very costly. Yet they sell as fast as I can make them up. There is another model that is made of Coudurier silk washed in a solution of pure gold. You can imagine it is by no means cheap. Yet the difficulty I have in getting enough material to repeat it as often as I want is extraordinary. Every scrap and cutting is saved. Every model that is sent to America is to be copied and then returned

The new Molyneux evening gown is made of apricot velvet with sloping boucres en forme that are tied in little bows on one side. The corsage has the new narrow shoulder straps and is slightly bloused.

The new Molyneux panel effects are cleverly demonstrated in this evening gown of white satin frosted with little silver stars. The sloping boucres follow the line of the drooping sash that is tied low on the right hip.

The cape coat is one of the many pleasing variations of the new winter wrap. Molyneux made this one of Meyer's crepe de laine with a shawl collar.

Under it you may wear this delightful frock of black crepe de laine in a lighter weight. It has two horizontal tucks above the sash and three below it.

One Molyneux afternoon gown is carried out in black velvet printed with a fine white line check. The new fullness at the back is achieved with simplicity of line.

A chic little morning suit in brown and beige tweed with a leather belt passing under side straps that button down onto the square patch pockets. The sweater is of beige jersey with brown zigzag stripes.

THE PROBLEM OF FUNERAL COSTS

By Wanda Barton.

THE problem of funeral expenses is one of the most difficult that people have to solve. A man who knows best, from a long career in the work, says a funeral costs just twice as much today as in the times of plain funerals and horse-drawn vehicles. Strange to say, the added cost is more to do with service than materials.

Motor-driven vehicles with trained chauffeurs, expensive house attendance, use of needed trappings, renting of chairs and extras are demanded. One or more open automobiles to carry flowers cost as much as those carrying passengers. Labor has increased since the war, yet those who demand the old-time service are just awakening to the fact. The use of the funeral rooms, parlors or church, as they may be called, is a modern solution of many difficulties.

Cemetery lots have increased with all real estate. Single spaces for two, three or more bodies is not a pleasant solution of the problem. Community vaults, or crypts, are still experimental and rather expensive, yet it looks as if they would be a saving, for they can be built nearer to the cities. With the vault the expense ends; no stones or monuments, no perpetual care of the lots.

All are willing to honor the dead but elaborate day funerals frequently call for needless waste of time. The evening service is sufficient in cases where religious customs do not interfere.

Homes where there has been a death become unhappy places to those who are left and are frequently sold for a terrible sacrifice, or apartments are vacated as soon as possible. In funeral parlors, families may spend as much time as they wish with their dead, returning home for normal rest and meals. These places are nonsectarian, which removes some objection to their use.

When we realize that spirits live on and that we are but caring for the material form we have known in as respectful a manner as possible, it should be done as quietly, simply and unostentatiously as may be.

THE NEED OF MODERN PARENTS

DON'T be "an old fusspot" in the eyes of our children, but an up-to-date, understanding person who is a friend as well as a parent, advises Ernest R. Groves, author of numerous books on child rearing, in an article "Modern Youth Needs Modern Parents," which appears in Children, the Magazine for Parents.

"Young folks are a product of prevailing social conditions. They neither make nor choose the social situation which molds them. The adult makes the world into which the youth enters and in which he has to live. We who are older meet our experiences with habits and ideas that we developed yesterday during the period of our childhood and youth when we adjusted ourselves to the sort of world that our parents going before had made for us. Youth always lives in the present. The adult, while he uses the resources of the present, brings to it both the advantages and liabilities of a past that has largely departed, crowded out by social conditions.

"It is this difference that is the chief cause of friction between the young and old. The child may not have much success in his efforts, but at any rate, he is generally adjusting to adjust himself to the actual circumstances that meet him face to face. The adult, finding it hard to adjust himself to the changing circumstances, continues to live as he can in his former ways; building his home on the ruins of his childhood experience, he is unable to let his child conform to a family life only partly adapted to existing needs.

"Whatever the problems of the child of today, the parent can best help him meet them, not by shutting his eyes to the trend of the times, but by entering into the world in which the child finds himself and looking at the youth's situation from the inside, with modern eyes."

Know Her?

You ought to know this lovely New York City girl because her blonde beauty has been displayed on so many magazine covers. She's Marion Dahl, 35 Clarkson St., Brooklyn. Artists say she's a "type!" They fairly rave over her delicate flesh tints and the golden glow of her hair! Miss Dahl says: "Everyone I know tells me how wonderful my hair looks, nowadays. I don't feel like it's a personal compliment, however; I take it more as a compliment to the method I'm using to care for it. It's the rage among girls here in New York. All you do is put a little Danderine on your brush each time you use it. My hair was dry and hard to keep in place, but Danderine makes it soft and easy to dress and holds it like I arrange it, for hours! My scalp fairly tingles with vigor after I use it, and it keeps my head so clean I don't need to shampoo half so often. It brings out the color of my hair marvelously, making it fairly glisten."

Every application of Danderine tones and refreshes your scalp. It removes the oily film from each strand and makes dull, stringy hair gleamy, soft and easily manageable. It dissolves dandruff and keeps it out of your hair. It isn't sticky or oily. It doesn't show. All drug stores have the generous 35c bottles.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls or answers by mail cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity when accompanied by stamped, addressed envelope.

READER.—Write the Missouri Agricultural Department, Jefferson City, for information on how to caponize chickens. Fattening Farm Poultry is Bulletin No. 17, but mention the particular ones wanted.

INQUISITIVE.—Probably the Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C., will furnish you with data on how long Georgia marble and other marble will stand without discoloring. In any case they would refer your letter to the department which has the information.

ROSE.—Paint is removed before it becomes dry by the liberal application of turpentine or benzine. It is inflammable. If used, apply it without friction and in a series of lighted fire or heat. Even when dry paint spots may be soaked for some time and removed. If the spot is not large, immerse it in the liquid. If large, lay a thick fold of clean cloth, or absorbent cotton under the spot, and sponge on the liquid freely so that it carries the loosened material through the goods, while dissolving it.

Helping the School Child

By Emilie Hoffman.

Home Co-Operation.

YOUR children are now well launched in their school work. Are you as helpful as possible to them in this work? (2) It is quite true that you, as a taxpayer, are paying your quota toward the teachers' salaries and they are expected to teach your children, but surely you are not leaving the education of your child entirely in the hands of the teachers.

Through the parent-teachers' association parents have come to a realization that intelligent home co-operation is absolutely essential and of vast benefit to their children in attaining an education.

There was a time when parents were looked upon as intruders if they visited the schools, but the progressive teacher of today no longer regards the parent as a "necessary evil," but is ready to accept the parents as partners in the child's education, and this means parents have duties to perform as well as the teachers.

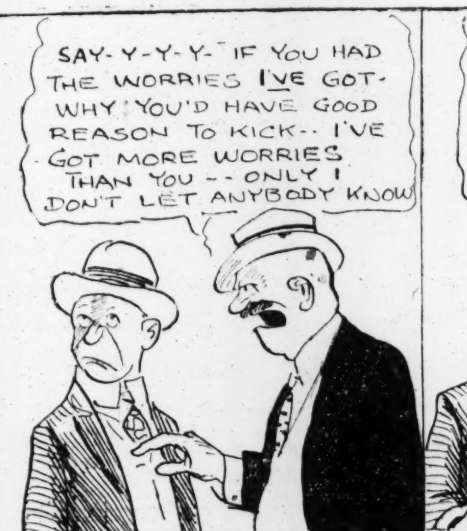

First of all, a parent should establish the right attitude in the child toward the school. This the parent can accomplish better than the teacher can. Impress upon your child that school is his business and the tasks pertaining to this business must be faithfully performed. Teach him that his school business is just as important as the business of his dad. Impress upon him that rules and regulations are a part of every business and must be strictly obeyed. Make him understand there must be a cheerful compliance with school discipline and that the teacher is his friend and anxious to promote his welfare.

Having given him the right view of school and his school duties, show an interest in all his school activities. Make daily inquiries about his achievements of the day and freely discuss school matters with him. Encourage him to his work. Give intelligent aid necessary and never fail your child. Keep up with him in his school progress, even if you have to study to do this.

Then keep in touch with the teacher of your child. The school of today does not adhere to the textbooks under the education of your child. Teachers have accepted as their obligation the development of the children under their care and to successfully accomplish this, some co-operation is necessary, so that the child is acquainted with your child's teacher. Either visit her at the school or invite her to your home. Through home and school companionship you will both get a better insight into the child and his needs. This will be helpful to you both in the development of
